Fight Lasts Hours

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18. — Bitter street battling between police and longshoremen continued at 2.15 p.m., to-day, an hour after 1,000 strikers and sympathizers had been driven from the entrance to the Ballantyne Pier by police fighting from behind a barrage of tear gas bombs.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18.—Police, mounted and afoot, charged from behind a barrage of tear gas bombs at the entrance to the Ballantyne Pier here shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon to disperse a crowd of approximately 1,000 striking longshoremen and their sympathizers, including women, who attempted to march on the dock.

A short time previous, Ivan A. Emory, president of the Longshore and Water Transport Workers of Canada, had been arrested and charged with inciting to riot in connection with a speech in which he was reported to have urged strikers to march in a body to the police-guarded pier.

The longshoremen had sought permission for a delegation to visit the dock to talk to men of another union working vessels berthed there. When this was refused, about 200 men marched to the pier, where they were joined by several hundred others.

As the main body approached the pier, their ranks opened to permit a group of men, reputedly ex-service men, to march ahead, carrying a banner.

DRIVEN BACK

Royal Canadian Mounted Police guarding the pier retreated towards the entrance and, when the marchers ignored warnings to stop, hurled tear gas bombs. As the strikers scattered, some sixty Mounties, some astride their horses, charged into the disorganized ranks of the marchers and drove them back into the downtown streets. Several were believed to have been injured and several policemen were believed to have been struck by missiles thrown by the strikers.

Strikers were broken up into groups and the rioting raged over a large area as police pursued them into alleys, yards, and into buildings.

As the marchers and their pursuers roared into the streets, about 100 city

Ignore Orders; Men Charged

Ten Seamen Alleged to Have Refused to Load Southolm; In Court

Ten men alleged to have disobeyed orders of superior officers to load the Frank Waterhouse and Company ship, Southolm, when they went on a sympathy strike with Vancouver longshoremen at the Empire Cannery dock here, were arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the Provincial Police Court this morning.

The men are charged with combining together to disobey lawful commands of their superior officers, thereby impeding progress of the ship. They were remanded until tomorrow afternoon, when they will appear in the provincial police courtroom. They were released on bail of $50 each.

An eleventh man, Patrick Driscoll, is charged with inciting the men to strike. The charges are laid under the Canada Shipping Act. Bail for Driscoll was set at $200.

A. J. Patton appeared for all the men. H. Davis appeared for the prosecution. Sergt. Richard Harvey was present on behalf of the company.

The men charged are: C. Morton, F. Phillips, F. Stephen, H. Child, H. Baxter, R. Walters, E. Milburn, J. Davidson, F. Donnelly and T. Cahill.

RALSTON NOT CANDIDATE

Former Liberal Minister From Nova Scotia to Quit Public Life

Canadian Press

Lockeport, N.S., June 18.—Hon. J. L. Ralston, K.C., former Minister of National Defence, will retire from public life at the end of the present parliament.

He has informed H. R. L. Bill, M.P.P., president of the Shelburne-Yarmouth Liberal Association, it will be impossible for him to accept a nomination for re-election to the House of Commons.

In his letter, Col. Ralston explained his decision to terminate his political career had been prompted by the recent death of Hon. W. G. Mitchell, K.C., senior partner in the Montreal law firm of which the colonel is a member.

Born at Amherst, N.S., fifty-four years ago, Col. Ralston first became a candidate in Cumberland County in 1908, when he was defeated by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, now Minister of Fin-

Request For Reports on J. J. McFarland's Operations Made at Commons Committee Session, But Bennett Says All Figures Not to Be Given

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—There was nothing to hide or cover up in connection with the government's guarantee of wheat operations carried on by John I. McFarland for the Canadian co-operative wheat producers, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told the select Commons committee considering the Canadian grain board bill to-day.

The committee, however, was not going to be turned into an investigation body covering wheat operations of the last five years, the Prime Minister declared.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal, Yarmouth-Shelburne, N.S., presented a memorandum calling for detailed information respecting Mr. McFarland's operations since August 1, 1931.

"I may as well tell you right now we don't propose to produce all that information," Mr. Bennett replied. "This is not an investigation. We propose to give only such information as will enable the committee to pass on the bill for which the committee was appointed."

First meeting of this committee was held this morning and Mr. Bennett was unanimously elected chairman.

TO BE HEARD FRIDAY

Isaac Pitbaldo, K.C., Winnipeg, told the committee the president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and several grain dealers would like to make representations next Friday.

Two witnesses were coming also from Vancouver, it was stated as the committee adjourned until Thursday morning.

Col. Ralston, chief opposition critic of the bill to create a Canadian grain board when it appeared in the House last week, produced a memorandum to which he said he would require answers either verbally or to be filled with the committee.

Ottawa, June 18.—Secretary of State C. H. Cahan to-day moved second reading of his bill to amend the Franchise Act.

ISLAND ROADS TO BE VIEWED

Ministers and Members to Make Inspection Tour Thursday

Vancouver Island road needs will come under official government scrutiny Thursday.

Hon. P. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, with Byron Johnson, M.P.P., for Victoria, and other interested parties will make a tour of the island road system from Victoria to Campbell River and return by way of Alberni.

Mr. MacPherson declined to-day to say what proportion of the government road money would be spent on the island but intimated the needs would be considered on this tour.

It was also indicated to-day, following Premier Pattullo's statement yesterday that the road money would be spent in all ridings, that while no long stretches of surfacing were planned, the work done would be so located as to hook-up existing links of surfaced road to provide through highways of good surface.

For instance on the lower mainland, stretches of five to ten miles are contemplated, linking up Vancouver and Ladner, Abbotsford and Chilliwack, and Vancouver and Mission.

HEAR APPEAL OF G. STONER

London Court To-morrow to Listen to Arguments Against Death Sentence

Canadian Press

London, June 18.—Appeal of George Percy Stoner, eighteen-year-old chauffeur, convicted of the murder of his employer, has been set for to-morrow. Stoner was sentenced to be hanged.

Previous reports said the hanging was scheduled for to-day, but it was announced no date has been fixed for the execution.

The trial of Stoner and Mrs. Alma Rattenbury formed a sensational sequel to the murder of the woman's husband, Francis Mawson Rattenbury, last March. Mrs Rattenbury was acquitted, but committed suicide a week later. Both the Rattenburys formerly lived in Victoria.

More than 200,000 signatures have been obtained asking for a reprieve for Stoner. The Home Office is studying the case.

NEW TEST IN LIQUOR CASE

Canadian Press

Halifax, June 18.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced to-day that new charges growing out of their uncovering of an alleged $5,000,000 liquor ring had been laid against nine Nova Scotians and two Prince Edward Island men.

A blanket information lodged against the eleven lists four conspiracy counts under the Customs and Excise Acts on which they are to be arraigned next Tuesday in County Court here. Warrants for the arrests were issued by Magistrate N. D. Murray over the week-end.

Those charged in this latest move were included in the sixty-five accused named in a general conspiracy information sworn out at Montreal last winter. All had been freed, the majority because of doubt as to the Montreal court's jurisdictional power in view of the fact most of the accused were alleged to have committed the offences in the Maritimes.

OTHERS CITED

Besides the eleven charged, twenty others were cited as conspirators, but it was understood no charges had been laid against them. Police did not reveal their names.

The accused are:

Early Start On Fraser Bridge

Ottawa's Approval of Plans Now Only Thing Blocking Provincial Job

Ground will be broken for the new Fraser River bridge at New Westminster "almost immediately," Premier Pattullo said this morning after announcing that the Dominion Bridge Company, lower of two bidders, would be awarded the contract.

Premier Pattullo this morning wired Premier Bennett, asking him to expedite approval of the bridge plans which are now before the Federal Government, after investigation by marine authorities here. He hoped this approval could be given soon, as the only thing holding up construction now is the federal action.

The contractors will be able to start at once on assembling machinery and preparing for the job. It is understood actual work on the foundations will have to wait until the spring freshet in the Fraser River drops.

The Premier also explained this morning how the financing of the bridge is being done. The Dominion Bridge Company, he said, has arranged to market $2,000,000 worth of 3½ per cent three-year bonds for the government. The money will be turned over to the government and then paid out to the contractors as the work progresses. The bonds will be taken by the company at their par value. They may be called at par any time within the three years, to be replaced by longer term bonds if conditions in the financial market are right.

The full cost of the bridge has been estimated at $3,500,000, but $2,000,000 will finance work for at least the first year or eighteen-months. The Premier said he expected the bridge to be completed in two years.

The Dominion Bridge Company submitted a tender of $2,722,101 on the foundations, superstructure and approaches of the bridge. This was $130,000 odd below the only other tender, submitted by the Western Bridge Company.

Announcement that the contract would go to the Dominion Bridge Company was made by Premier Pattullo yesterday evening after a special meeting of the cabinet in the afternoon.

Police Court Crowded When Case Opens; Trio Released On $1,500 Bail

Rupert A. Walker, Roland Burritt and Donald Wood Face Charges of Wounding Wilbert Lindstrom and Michael Share in Barn on Wilkinson Road on June 10

Case Adjourned Until Thursday

Rupert A. G. Walker of East Sooke, Roland Burritt, who arrived here one month ago from California, and Donald Wood, of Esquimalt, were jointly charged in the Saanich Police Court this morning before Magistrate George Jay with wounding Wilbert Lindstrom and Michael Share in a barn on Wilkinson Road on Monday, June 10.

The charges were laid by the Saanich police after they had investigated stories told by Lindstrom and Share regarding an initiation ceremony which was performed, and which involved the branding of the letters "UON" on Lindstrom.

The accused were remanded until Thursday afternoon next, when another adjournment may be taken.

They were each released on $500 bail.

COURTROOM CROWDED

The courtroom was crowded long before the hearing opened.

H. A. Beckwith appeared for Walker and Burritt and reserved plea.

The hearing will be preliminary.

E. L. Tait appeared for the prosecution.

Walker was the only one who showed signs of strain before and during the court session. He wore a light overcoat and while seated in the charge office at police headquarters conferring with his counsel, he appeared wearied and strained.

Burritt wore a grey tweed suit and took the proceedings calmly. The same was true of Wood, who was dressed in a brown tweed suit.

Mr. Beckwith told the court it was possible he would not be able to proceed on Thursday. He requested an adjournment until that date, however, when the court will be informed if he is prepared to proceed.

CHARGES OF WOUNDING

Walker and Burritt were originally held on assault charges, but after consultation with legal advisers the police changed these to wounding counts.

While showing his brands to newspaper men this morning, Lindstrom stated he had been bound and laid on the floor while two men straddled him. That was the reason he had been unable to put up a struggle, he said.

NOT A PRINCIPAL

Intimation that the prosecution would not contend that Wood participated to the same extent in the offence as the other two, was given by Prosecutor Tait when application for bail was made by the defence. He told the court he understood Wood was not in sense a principal in the case and he would not oppose lighter bail for him.

Magistrate Jay, however, stated the charge was a serious one and the three men were charged together, for which reason he would not differentiate in setting bail.

Mr. Beckwith pleaded for the smallest bail possible, stating some difficulty might be experienced in raising a large amount.

CONVICTS IN MINE MUTINY

In Pit In Kansas 380 Prisoners Fight With Five Officials; Gas Used

Associated Press

Lansing Kansas, June 18.—Fighting broke out in the Kansas penitentiary coal mine today when a group of striking convict miners attempted to capture the gun cage manned by five prison officials on the 730-foot level.

The convicts, part of 380 miners who mutinied early to-day and since had held the mine, were repulsed by use of gas guns. The five men in the cage reported by telephone to the surface they could hold their position indefinitely.

The gun cage was manned by Guard O. A. Johnson, John Christian, Fred Murray, John Stewart and Mine Superintendent Robert Murray.

Superintendent Murray had returned to the gun cage after a four-hour discussion with the mutineers. He had just reported all was well when the miners dashed out of a tunnel and made for the cage. The gas-masked officer laid down a heavy gas barrage and the choking mutineers retreated.

ONLY COMMUNICATION

The gun cage, guarding the air shaft and telephone, is the only communication between the mine and the surface. It was saved earlier today by Johnson, who routed five convicts as they sought to jam the air shaft elevator cage with empty mine cars.

Delegates of Camp Strikers To Be Heard In Ottawa

Eight Spokesmen Prepare to Travel to Capital; At Regina 2,000 Will Await Statement of Government's Plans

By SAM G. ROSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Regina, June 18.—Eight representatives of 2,000 striking relief camp workers prepared to-day to travel to Ottawa to submit grievances of the men against camp conditions to the Federal Government. Their comrades will await the result in Regina.

Winding up a busy day of negotiating, an agreement was reached yesterday evening between the committee representing the strikers and Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, and Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, who had come from Ottawa.

While the committee negotiations reached their final stage, the strikers paraded through city streets, for a while in a light drizzle of rain. At the railway yards, where the strikers planned to defy police orders and leave aboard a freight train if the negotiations should fail, a large crowd of Regina police had gathered.

POLICE IN BARRACKS

Although about 500 Royal Canadian Mounted Police and railway police had been assembled here to put the ban on freight train riding into effect, only a few railway police were at the railway yards where the local people were gathering. They had

GERMANY TO SPEED NAVY BUILDING

Associated Press

Berlin, June 18.—German official circles were jubilant to-day over their naval understanding with Great Britain, asserting the Reich will build up its navy as fast as possible to 35 per cent of Great Britain's sea power.

Nazi authorities said they considered the naval accord capable of lifting Germany from the isolation into which they believed she was plunged by the Russo-French mutual assistance pact.

The government undertakes, however, that Germany's submarine tonnage shall not exceed 45 per cent of the total of that possessed by the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

At the same time, it is made clear the Reich will not exceed the ratio of 35 per cent of the British Navy in respect to total tonnage.

The agreement was formally reached this morning.

Nine Points In Pattullo's Plan

Regional Tariffs, Public Works, Refunding and P.G.E. Transfer to C.N.R. Laid Down in Premier's Proposals to Ottawa

Without the removal of disabilities under which it is now suffering by virtue of its relationships with the federal government, British Columbia can never properly function and prosper as it should, Premier Pattullo declared in a province-wide radio address yesterday evening.

He cited nine points on which the provincial government is asking the following remedies:

(1) That a commission be named to readjust matters arising out of the Terms of Union in Confederation.

(2) That sources of revenue and taxation be redefined.

(3) That capital obligations be refunded at lower rates of interest.

(4) That jurisdiction on matters such as marketing control and social and welfare legislation be clearly defined.

(5) That capital for public works and development of natural resources be furnished the province at the lowest possible cost.

(6) That the Pacific Great Eastern Railway be taken over by the Dominion as part of the C.N.R.

(7) That regional tariffs be given British Columbia or some compensation in exchange afforded.

(8) That freight rates be adjusted on a more equal basis.

B.C.'S CASE WILL BE ADVERTISED

From Victoria in the west to Prince Edward Island in the east, British Columbia will explain Premier Pattullo's nine points to the people of Canada next week end. Newspaper advertisements setting out the province's case for rectification of its relations with the Dominion will be carried in Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning papers in all the large cities across the continent. In his radio speech yesterday evening, the Premier summarized the main arguments which will be reproduced in the advertisements. It is stated to be the first time on record a provincial government has taken this method of addressing the Canadian people. The advertisements will appear over a facsimile of Premier Pattullo's signature.

B. P. JACOBSEN PASSES AWAY

Canadian Press

Bella Coola, B.C., June 18.—B. Philip Jacobson, who came to British Columbia from Norway in 1884 to collect Indian curios and information for Hagenbrek's Museum and the German government and who remained to trade among the Indians, is dead, aged seventy-one.

A year after his arrival in Victoria from Norway via Cape Horn, Mr. Jacobsen rowed in a small boat to Alaska, penetrating all deep inlets and visiting practically every permanent Indian village.

In June, 1885, he took a band of nine Bella Coola Indians to Germany, where they remained thirteen months, exhibiting tribal dances and costumes. Their exhibitions were highly commended by the king of Saxony. One of this band, Billy Jones, still lives at Bella Coola.

MANY COLLECTIONS

Mr. Jacobsen continued his museum work and obtained collections now highly regarded by museums and historical societies of North America and Europe.

In 1887, he spent the entire summer without remuneration in estimating the acreage of available land in the Bella Coola valley and it is stated his reports influenced the Department of Lands to survey the valley, thus opening it for settlement. His recommendation to Rev. Christian Saugstad caused the latter to bring out a band of Norwegian colonists and establish a settlement here.

Because of his experience with and ability to handle the natives, Mr. Jacobsen was induced to manage a store at Clayoquot, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. His ability as a trader was shown in the rapid growth of the store, the building of a hotel and the success of sealing conducted under his orders. He directed operations of four sealing vessels from the California coast to Bering Sea.

In 1899, the explorer-trader put out to sea in a small lifeboat during a terrific storm to rescue the crew of a three-masted ship which was swept by storm and ravaged by fire. For his bravery, he was awarded a gold medal by the President of United States and a bronze medal by the Royal Humane Society of Canada.

H. C. Brewster, who in 1916 became Premier of British Columbia, was a member of the crew of the rescuing lifeboat. Mr. Brewster was then a clerk in Mr. Jacobsen's store.

Not long afterwards, Mr. Jacobsen picked up the wreck of the barque Archer, which had capsized off the mouth of the Columbia River and had floated up the Coast. He had the wreck towed to the store wharf by a Coast steamer, but Indians boarded the ship and trouble appeared imminent until the natives were frightened off.

Mr. Jacobsen died Sunday from heart disease.

Full Report On Wheat Hedging Is Liberals' Demand

When Mr. Bennett declared the government had no intention of securing all the information requested, at least before this committee, and expressed doubt if it was available, Col. Ralston was equally emphatic.

DECLARED NEEDED

"Once and for all," said the member for Yarmouth-Shelbourne, "the information called for here we think is necessary, and there should be no difficulty in supplying it if proper records have been kept."

"There are no such records and never have been," replied the Prime Minister.

That would indicate, Mr. Ralston replied, the government had permitted the McFarland operations to go on without proper knowledge of what was being done.

Mr. Bennett replied there had been auditors' reports every week or ten days.

FACTS FOR PUBLIC

Hon. Charles Stewart, Liberal, Edmonton West, observed the time had surely been reached when all facts surrounding Mr. McFarland's grain exchange operations for the government could be disclosed.

"Only what is required for the proper consideration of this bill and the property it proposes to take over," insisted the Prime Minister.

Col. Ralston observed the government desired to "cover up" its dealings in grain.

Mr. Bennett assured the committee there was nothing to hide or cover up, that the questions now could have been raised earlier in the session and threshed out before one of the standing committees, banking and commerce or agriculture.

FROM VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18.—Robert McKeen, Vancouver grain exporter, and S. S. McKeen, Liberal member of the British Columbia Legislature for Vancouver-Point Grey, are en route to Ottawa to appear before the parliamentary committee dealing with the Canadian grain board bill.

The men will appear as official delegates of the Vancouver Grain Exchange, the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange, the Vancouver Grain Exporters' Association, the Vancouver Board of Trade and other similar bodies.

Naval Agreement Terms Rounded Out

timated, technically should not be difficult of solution. Conversations are expected to end on Friday.

TWO LIMITATIONS

It was authoritatively learned the agreement provides for a double limitation on the size of the German navy:

1. A global limit of 35 per cent of Britain's effective naval tonnage as determined by international agreement.

2. A category limit of 35 per cent, with certain latitude allowed for transfer from one category to another.

The first provision means Germany agrees to limit her total tonnage to 35 per cent of Britain's. The second means Germany cannot apply her total of 35 per cent to construction of one particular category of warship.

This was the main difficulty confronting the two delegations. The British delegates pressed for category limitations lest Germany's total allowance under the agreement might be used to cover the sea with German submarines.

NOTE FROM ITALY

Italy to-day presented a note to Britain, reserving her views on the Anglo-German agreement, but stating she was willing to discuss the situation at any time. The Italian note was said to have declared German naval rearmament was a matter for discussion among signatories of the Washington Naval Treaty. France also presented a note to the British Embassy in Paris.

Diplomats expressed the opinion Great Britain had removed definitely any possibility of a rekindling of old imperial German ambitions to rival the United Kingdom as a sea power.

Canadian Press from Havas

Paris, June 18. — France informed Great Britain to-day any Anglo-German naval agreement signed without full protection for France would mean denunciation by this country of the Washington Naval Treaty, as Japan already had denounced it.

"France reserves full liberty of action," the French note, presented in reply to Great Britain's note on the Anglo-German naval talks, was reported to have said. The note was handed to British Ambassador Sir George Clerk by Premier Pierre Laval.

Fears Britain might lose interest in the united front established at Stresa with France and Italy, which were implied in the note, were expressed to-day in newspaper comment.

"The Reich wished to end the isolation in which it had been since the meetings in Rome, London and Strest," The Petit Parisien said. "The German manoeuvre, therefore, impairs indivisibility of the problems. The evil may yet be repaired if by using the influence reacquired over Berlin—anxious over the exhaustion of its financial resources and counting on the banks of London—Great Britain exerted itself to push the Reich into the road of conciliation."

FRANCE AND ITALY

Text of the French note was not divulged, but collaboration between France and Italy to offset any developments regarded as dangerous arising from growth of a new German navy was suggested.

NORTH CHINA CRISIS EASES

Associated Press

Tientsin, China, June 18.—Japanese military officials announced to-night that the Sino-Japanese crisis in north China had "reached a stage of amicable negotiation."

Maj.-Gen. Kenji Doihara, director of the special service division of the Japanese Kwantung army, announced that the Changpei incident, involving the arrest of several Japanese, had been settled, mainly through the dismissal of Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, governor of Chahar province.

LEAVE TIENTSIN

Veteran Japanese troops of the Tientsin garrison departed for Tangku to-day, reducing the local forces to their normal strength of about 800. Chinese troops also continued to withdraw in great numbers.

Tokio's continental war officers asserted, however, that their forces were persisting in their heavy concentration along the Great Wall as a "precautionary measure."

The Japanese forces withdrew from Tientsin, having completed their one-year tour of duty in north China and been replaced by fresh men. They were cheered loudly by local Japanese as they marched away to entrain for Tangku.

A dispatch from Changchun to Rengo, the Japanese news agency, reported that Japan's Kwantung army had agreed to settlement of the Changpei incident, with Chinese acceptance of Japanese demands for an apology and punishment of responsible officials.

Delegates Of Camp Strikers Soon To Be Heard At Ottawa

gathered to act as an escort if the strikers decided to leave for the east.

The delegation of the strikers will leave Regina to-night, traveling at the expense of the railway companies arranged through the federal government.

MEALS ARRANGED

The agreement includes acceptance of the cabinet ministers' offer to send a deputation to Ottawa at the expense of the railways arranged through the federal government. The men remaining in Regina during negotiations will be given three meals a day at twenty cents a meal, instead of two meals a day they have been receiving since arriving here Friday from British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan points.

ADDITION OF 300 MEN

Three hundred men arriving from the Dundurn camp near Saskatoon will be permitted to join the strikers here and efforts will be made to provide further accommodation than the stadium at the Exhibition Grounds, where the men have been stationed.

No attempts will be made by the government or government officials to intimidate or disrupt the strikers' organization here. No statements will be issued by either the government or the strikers.

NO RECRUITING

The strikers agreed that no encouragement would be given other jobless to join their forces here and they agreed not to make any attempt to board freight trains leaving the city.

When the negotiations at Ottawa are concluded the delegation will return here and submit the results to the men. If they are approved, the men will open negotiations for return to their homes.

MEN'S REQUESTS

The negotiations with the government at Ottawa will be on the basis of their six demands. They include work with wages, removal of the camps from administration of the Department of National Defence, inclusion of camp workers under the Workmen's Compensation Act and recognition of camp committees. Social and unemployment insurance is included, along with the right to vote.

W. F. EATON PASSES AWAY

His business career started with the T. Eaton Company in Toronto, and shortly afterwards he was transferred to the Eaton factory at Oshawa, Ont. He remained in Oshawa until the factory closed in 1915, when he became general manager of the Hamilton factory.

At the time of his death he was head of the manufacturing business, and was an honorary member of the advisory board of the T. Eaton Company, to which he was appointed in December, 1918.

Col. Eaton was commissioner of boy scouts for the counties of Gray, Ontario, Victoria and Peterboro.

In February, 1927, he was appointed honorary lieutenant-colonel of the Second Dragoons Regiment of Hamilton, and in 1932 he was advanced to the rank of colonel.

MACHINERY IS STOLEN

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18.—Machinery and fittings valued at $950 have been stolen from the Western Red Cedar Mills, southeast Marine Drive.

Residents of the district near the mill saw men loading a boiler feed pump, which weighed 1,200 pounds, in a gasboat on the Fraser River but did not report the incident as they thought the men were legitimate workmen.

In addition to the pump, 4,000 feet of iron pipe was taken from the mill.

ACE OF DIAMONDS

It feels like soap, looks like a piece of ice and is worth a cool $1,000,000—that is the Jonker diamond, largest in the world, which has just been brought to New York from London for cutting, having crossed the Atlantic in an ordinary sealed registered mail sack at a cost of 65 cents postage. How its 726 carats size (about five ounces) compared with an average diamond solitaire is illustrated above.

STREET CARS UNDER SIEGE

Nebraska Governor Has Troops Enforce Ban in Omaha Strike

Associated Press

Omaha, June 18.—Omaha's military dictator, Governor R. L. Cochran, today termed "unreasonable" a counter-arbitration plan of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway Company and threw his 1,800 National Guardsmen into a siege against the company's trams. To-day was the third full day under martial law.

Governor Cochran demanded full arbitration.

Labor accepted early yesterday.

After an ignored deadline had brought Governor Cochran's order to run the trams off the streets, the company submitted a substitute proposal substantially the same as it presented when the strike began last April 20.

"This is no answer to my request," the Governor bluntly told the company.

The company balked at even discussing a closed shop, re-employment of sixty-eight of its 268 striking employees, or rescinding of new seniority rules. It charged sixty-eight men with complicity in violence, and claimed it owed a duty to protect loyal employees in seniority privileges.

SIDNEY CAVE WILLIS AGENT

New Representative of Piano Company Says Business Conditions Are Better

Sidney G. Cave, formerly factory representative in Saskatchewan for the Willis Piano Company Limited, Montreal, has recently been transferred to Victoria, and will act as sales manager for Vancouver Island.

Mr. Cave motored from Montreal to Vancouver calling on Willis representatives at different points, and was delighted with the spirit of optimism that prevails among the agents, all of whom report business improving.

While in Montreal Mr. Cave was greatly impressed with the number of grand pianos being sold in that district, and was assured that business had doubled during the last year. While on a visit to the factory he was interested to see the number of grands being made to special order, one being finished in gold leaf and another in rose enamel.

Willis & Co. are now in their sixty-fourth year of exclusive piano manufacturing, and have representation in all the large centres from coast to coast, the Victoria store being at 720 Fort Street.

Mr. Cave started in the piano business with Willis, Montreal, and has been with them for twenty-five years.

Three Men Charged With Wounding

Relatives of the three accused appeared in court to-day. Supporting his plea for low bail Mr. Beckwith stated his two clients would be returned to the custody of their families when released.

The large crowd which attended the court sitting awaited outside the building for some time after the case was over to see some of the principals in the case.

The only ones they saw however, were Lindstrom and Share who were driven away by Chief Allan Rankin, of the Saanich police. Lindstrom pulled his hat over his face in an attempt to avoid newspaper photographers. Share does not wear a hat. His moustache, which it was stated by Lindstrom was half shaved, is full grown again.

The brands on Lindstrom's body, which he showed to two representatives of The Times, cover a patch about ten inches long. The letters "U.O.N." are each about two inches long, but are not deep. The skin is browned but not seared, except for two or three points where there are still scabs.

Exhibits in the case were not displayed in the courtroom this morning. Most of them were in Chief Rankin's car in a large cardboard box. One of the exhibits is a small coal oil burner.

TARIFFS ARE DEBATE TOPIC

Canadian Press

St. Lawrence University, Canton, N.Y., June 18—An academic attack on "discriminatory Canadian tariffs" and a defence of Canadian high tariff policy marked the first technical phase to-day of the pioneer—and unofficial—Canadian-American Conference at St. Lawrence University.

Purely by coincidence the frank appraisals of tariffs came almost on the eve of the opening in Washington of official Canadian-United States discussion of a proposed tariff reciprocity treaty. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett announced in Ottawa, June 12, that two departmental officials and the Canadian minister would represent the Dominion in the discussions.

"The Canadian-American negotiations will have a significant accomplishment to their credit if they only result in the elimination of the over-discrimination in the Canadian tariff against American trade and in favor of countries not members of the British Empire," said Professor Jacob Viner of Chicago University.

"This discrimination cannot be regarded as of great economic importance to either Canada or the United States. It has fortunately attracted little attention in this country.

"Canadians may feel this discrimination is only justly merited punishment for the sins of American commercial policy, but in these matters there is nothing so rare as an adequate consciousness of guilt unless it be the existence of wholly innocent victims.

"The practice of tariff discrimination is a foolish, economically expensive and dangerous game. Given complete absence of major conflicts of interests or policy between the two peoples and the feelings of respect and even affection which they have for each other, it should require the exercise of but a moderate degree of statesmanship on both sides to secure the removal of this symbol of hostility."

Professor W. W. McLaren of Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., chairman of tariff session, also termed Canadian tariff discriminatory.

PRICE SWINGS

"Due to the complete demoralization of prices, especially in the United States, Canadian high tariffs have become necessary," said Professor Kenneth W. Taylor of McMaster University, Hamilton Ont., in answer to tariff discrimination charges of Professors Viner and McLaren.

Professor Taylor emphasized the need for development of a co-ordinated body of administrative law in tariff and trade matters as a protection against sale in Canada of job lots and end of season lines which could not be handled under ordinary anti-dumping regulations.

TARIFF BOARD HEAD SPEAKS

Discussions closed to the public followed the addresses, led by Hon. G. H. Sedgewick, K.C., chairman of the Canadian tariff board; Professor A. B. Balcom, Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., and Robert Lincoln O'Brien, chairman of the U.S. tariff commission.

Outside the conference proper the highlight of the day's programme was a luncheon in honor of Sir Robert Borden, war time premier of Canada. Alanson B. Houghton, former United States ambassador to Great Britain, was selected toastmaster.

This evening the conference will discuss the movement of capital.

About 100 of the 150 delegates to the conference had arrived to-day for the first technical session, which followed the opening dinner and welcome programme yesterday evening.

FROM THIRTY-NINE UNIVERSITIES

The present conference of the Institute of Canadian-American Relations is a pioneering one. It is the culmination of two years of study and research by educationists in thirty-nine universities on both sides of the border.

The delegates were welcomed yesterday evening by Dr. Richard Eddy Sykes, president of St. Lawrence, and Dr. W. H. Fyfe, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont.

St. Lawrence, the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and Queen's University are co-operating as sponsors of the week's gathering, called to explore social, economic, political and intellectual activity of the two countries.

Despite the "work as usual" order of Assistant Deputy Warden A. J. Graham, the prison yard began to take on an air of unrest as more ammunition and gas began to arrive and heavily armed guards appeared on the walls in ever-increasing numbers.

A few minutes before the attack on the gun cage, gas and ammunition had been lowered to the beleagured quintette.

When the 380 sullen convicts mutinied in the mine this morning they made hostages of eleven guards.

FIGHT IN 1927

One of the most serious mine riots occurred nearly eight years ago when, on June 24, 1927, 326 convicts mutined and stayed 720 feet down in the mine for seventy-two hours because they were denied cigarettes.

After a fight in which lumps of coal, clubs, picks and lanterns were used, loyal convicts overcame the rebel strikers, released fourteen imprisoned guards and ended the riot.

Duncan Truck Driver Recovers After Blaze

Canadian Press

Duncan, June 18. — O. V. Young, truck driver, was recovering to-day from injuries he suffered when his truck turned over and burned on the highway near Glenora.

Young escaped through the rear window of the truck cab just before it burst into flames. He suffered leg injuries and a few minor cuts. The truck was totally destroyed.

PREMIER GOES NORTH JUNE 27

On a swing through northern towns, Premier Pattullo will leave here June 27, he said this morning. He will go first to Prince Rupert then through Terrace, Hazelton and Smithers and back along the Cariboo route to Vancouver. He will have several speaking engagements. Hon G. W. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, will precede the Premier along this route by one week, leaving Vancouver to-morrow. Later in the year, the Premier said, he expects to visit the southern interior.

POLICE CHIEF FACES CHARGE

J. Fitzpatrick and Leona Cudmore on Bail at Blairmore, Alta.

Canadian Press

Blairmore, Alta., June 18.—Joseph Fitzpatrick, fifty-year-old chief of police of Blairmore, and Leona Cudmore, alias Ledarke, are under arrest following the disclosure of an alleged extortion plot in the town of Blairmore by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Fitzpatrick, suspended from the Blairmore force by the council yesterday evening, has been charged with aiding, abetting and extortion, involving a sum of more than $1,000. The woman is charged with extortion.

Both are out on bail of $2,800 pending a preliminary hearing set for June 21.

Fitzpatrick, appointed by the Workers' Party Council, under the leadership of Mayor William Knight, had been chief of police of Blairmore since 1933.

The chief was arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police last Friday, but it was not until to-day that they confirmed reports he had been taken into custody and remanded for preliminary hearing.

Strikers In Vancouver Dispersed

policemen joined the charge and the riot raged in all directions. Estimates indicated only about 200 police were engaged in the battle.

At least one policeman was pulled from his horse and beaten by rioters, reports stated.

The rioting continued over an area five blocks long and two blocks wide as the main clash broke up into a series of small fights. A number of arrests were made.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18.—Ivan A. Emory, executive of the Longshore and Water Transport Workers of Canada Central Union, which called a general strike of British Columbia marine workers last Friday, was arrested to-day on a charge of inciting to riot in connection with his reported speech urging strikers to march in a body to the police-guarded Ballantyne Pier here.

In addressing a mass meeting of longshoremen, Mr. Emory was reported to have said: "In the war, many of us faced the guns of the whole German army. Now we are faced with a squad of Mounties with machine guns behind them. I believe there are enough returned men among us who are willing to listen to the rattle of machine gun fire again."

DELEGATION PLAN

He suggested permission be sought to send a delegation to the dock to talk to men working ships berthed there.

"If we don't get permission, we are going to march down anyway," he was reported to have declared. "If they turn their guns on us and shoot us down, then you will know that the face of Fascism in Canada has been bared."

CONFERENCES SOUGHT

Meanwhile, it was reported a conference between strikers and the Shipping Federation of British Columbia, the operators' organization, was being sought by F. E. Harrison, Dominion fair wage officer. Adam Bell, B.C. Deputy Minister of Labor, was here, too, in connection with possible settlement of the strike.

Longshoremen, some 900 of whom have walked out, were reported planning to march on the Ballantyne Pier, but this could not be confirmed. Emory had suggested the march be held at 1 p.m. to-day, but there was no indication shortly before that time that the march would be held.

COASTAL SERVICES

The Union Steamship Company, which announced yesterday evening all its coastwise vessels would be tied up indefinitely owing to the strike of employees, stated the Ss. Cardena would sail to-night for northern points as usual.

Meanwhile other services reported they were continuing to operate. The Canadian National's Prince Rupert left around midnight for Skagway with a full cargo and a heavy passenger list to inaugurate the first of the Alaskan trips of the season.

The Canadian Pacific Steamships are operating all vessels on schedule and the Shipping Federation of British Columbia reports that members of the Canadian Waterfront Workers' Association, which signed an agreement with the federation when the Vancouver and District Waterfront workers' Association went on strike, are working the majority of the deep-sea ships in port.

Local delegates returning here after a conference held yesterday in Nanaimo with Vancouver longshore officials had nothing to report. The waterfront situation here remains the same with all ships, except those classed as unfair, being worked.

EXTRADITION MOVE DROPPED

Toronto, June 18 (Canadian Press)—Application of the United States Government for the extradition of Martin J. Insull, former Chicago public utility executive, to face alleged breaches of the Bankruptcy Act, was formally dismissed to-day by Mr. Justice A. G. Kingstone.

MOONEY CASE BEFORE COURT

California Convict Hopes to Win Release on Perjury Argument

Associated Press

San Francisco, June 18.—Tom Mooney's defenders to-day prepared to battle for his freedom before the California Supreme Court, which for the first time has given judicial recognition to his cry of "perjury" by granting a writ of habeas corpus.

Issuance of the writ was granted on Mooney's petition charging his conviction of the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing was accomplished through perjured testimony.

His attorney declared the burden of proof was shifted by the Supreme Court's action from Mooney's shoulders to those of State Attorney-General U. S. Webb, who is expected to resist this latest move in the former iron moulder's long fight for freedom.

The writ, issued yesterday, was made returnable June 27. It directs Warden James J. Holohan of San Quentin Prison, where Mooney is serving a life term, to show cause why the grey-haired convict should not be released.

Webb, as legal representative of Warden Holohan, was reported at his office to have no comment to make at this time. He argued in a previous habeas corpus proceeding before the United States Supreme Court that Mooney's perjury allegation was without legal standing and that relief could come only through executive clemency or pardon.

NINE POINTS IN PATTULLO'S PLAN

(9) That the Dominion lay down a permanent policy to deal with unemployment.

"The time has arrived when the limitations set by the British North America Act are a definite bar to the free and proper development of the provinces," the Premier declared. "I am glad to say that all political parties are now united in the viewpoint that our constitution must be amended, and a committee of the House of Commons, upon which all parties were represented, so reported. All the western provinces are clamoring for it and British Columbia is determined that it shall come to pass as soon as possible."

FARM RELIEF MEASURE

As an instance of Dominion invasion of provincial rights, the Premier quoted the case of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, now being attacked in the courts by the province.

"Last November," he said, "the Dominion Minister of Finance wrote me asking for co-operation in the application of this measure, particularly in respect of certain fees and charges ordinarily payable under our provincial statutes. We agreed to this request and issued instructions accordingly.

"To our surprise it was later learned that it was the intention of the Dominion authorities to apply the act, not only to transactions between individuals, but also to provincial contracts and agreements entered into with farmers. Early in May of this year Mr. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, wrote me a letter in which he said quite frankly that the Dominion asserted the right, under the act, to deal with all contracts, including provincial contracts.

"Now we all know that farming is the basic industry of industries, and we all want to do everything possible to help this primary occupation. That this province has done so is evidenced by the millions of dollars which have been remitted to farmers to wipe off obligations to the government. These amounts have been absorbed by the public at large.

"But for this province to recognize the right of the Dominion Government to step in under the guise of the 'Bankruptcy Act' and alter the terms of contracts between the Crown in right of the province and individual farmers, would mean a recognition that the Dominion may legislate in regard to provincial Crown contracts of every description under the 'Bankruptcy Act.' No contract hereafter would be safe from such interference.

"I immediately wrote to Mr. Rhodes that we could not possibly recognize any right of the Dominion under the 'Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act' to interfere with provincial contracts. Careful study of the act by our legal department leads us to the conclusion that the Dominion Parliament exceeded its powers in the framing of this act.

"Amazing as it may seem, the board set up by the Dominion Government has already made a decision, in a case before it, wherein it ruled in a matter of taxes that all interest and penalties should be written off, that the amount payable be allowed at a fixed sum, that such sum should be payable in three equal annual instalments, and that no tax enforcement proceeding should be taken against the debtor in respect of these payments until after the thirty-first day of October, 1939.

"AUDACIOUS BUSINESS"

"In other words the Dominion sets up a local tribunal which undertakes, not only to alter the terms of a contract entered into by the provincial government under the authority and by direction of the Legislature, but presumes to alter taxation imposed by the Legislature. This is certainly an audacious piece of business, yet because we take objection to such procedure we are accused of attempting to prevent farmers from getting needed relief.

"The Dominion has been steadily encroaching upon fields of provincial jurisdiction, and instead of consultation with the provinces before taking action, action has been taken and we are now placed in the position of having to go to the courts to determine the authority of the Dominion in matters in which the Dominion has presumed to have authority. Some of these measures have been placed before parliament, notwithstanding the fact that the government, through the Minister of Justice, expressed a doubt as to their legality.

"This is a grossly unfair method to adopt and not of a kind that will make for a harmonious and united people.

"Why critics who should know better will now make light of the efforts which we are making to improve our economic position in relationship to the rest of the Dominion, is almost beyond comprehension. Just cogitate upon the fact that we have had an adverse trade balance with the eastern provinces of an annual average of over $50,000,000, which has had to be made up from other sources. As a matter of fact, it has been made up from favorable foreign trade balances and by borrowings.

NEED IS RECOGNIZED

"To those who criticize our activities in regard to the necessity for amendments to the 'British North America Act,' I will point out that the necessity of amendment is now generally recognized. Our government, I think it can fairly be said, has exercised some considerable influence in bringing about the unanimity which now exists in Canada in this regard. But I would draw the attention of those who say that we are fussing about the 'B.N.A. Act' when other things ought to be done, to the fact that in the first place other things are being done, and that in the second place had we not fussed about the 'B.N.A. Act' we would not have received recognition of our claim, by the Dominion Government last year agreeing to increase the subsidy for the year ending March 31 last by an interim payment of $750,000. Instead of receiving $875,000, we shall have received $1,625,000. This seems to me is some little accomplishment of itself.

"I want to emphasize as strongly as I possibly can that this province can never properly function and prosper as it should until the disabilities to which we are now subject in our relationship to the rest of Canada are removed. That it will take time before all these disabilities are removed may be admitted, but that some of them can be and will be remedied in the immediate future seems reasonably assured. But whether the time be long or whether it be short, the work simply must be done, and I propose to stick on the job until it is done.

INCREASING HANDICAPS

"The fact is that British Columbia has labored under progressively increasing handicaps ever since her entry into Confederation. During various boom periods when large capital expenditures were being made, the people generally did not realize the terrific handicaps which were being imposed upon this province.

"I regret to say that eastern Canada, and by eastern Canada I mean particularly the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, are not sufficiently well acquainted with the province of British Columbia or its problems. The truth is that the people of British Columbia, generally speaking, understand conditions in eastern Canada much better than eastern Canada understands British Columbia, and the reason for this seems obvious—namely, a very considerable portion of our population originally came from eastern Canada, and consequently are familiar with conditions there.

"Because of the fact that we have borrowed money from the Dominion during the depression we are viewed more or less as medicants looking for a handout. It is overlooked that not only have we more than paid our own way in the Confederation of the Dominion of Canada by direct contribution to the Dominion treasury, but we have annually poured millions into the pockets of the manufacturers of the east. They have become so accustomed to this situation that they now take it as a matter of course."

WAGES-HOURS BILL PASSED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—The Senate banking and commerce committee to-day passed the bill for fair wages and hours of labor in relation to public works and contracts.

The measure provides for a forty-four-hour week on public works contracts; while the eight-hour day bill, approved earlier in the session applicable to private industry, provides for a forty-eight-hour week. The forty-four-hour week was to lead the way in shorter hours, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Senate, said. The delay until next May in bringing the fair wage bill into force was necessary because of contracts at present under way and to afford time to make necessary adjustments, he said.

WOODSWORTH FOR RECONSTRUCTION

Montreal, June 18.—Attacking the reforms of the Conservative Party, J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., Winnipeg, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, recommended a policy of reconstruction when addressing a rally for L. C. Almond, C.C.F. candidate in the Mount Royal division here yesterday.

Mr. Bennett's radio speeches were "the most remarkable series of documents ever laid before the Canadian people," he said, but the legislation of the session had been merely a stopgap.

The Liberals' replies to the Bennett reform policy were either that it was unconstitutional or that it would result in regimentation, he said. The constitution had become nothing more than a standing excuse for legislative inactivity.

Nine Portland, Ore., Companies Advertise For Men As Strike Continues

Associated Press

Portland, Ore., June 18.—Growing impatience over the economic loss of the U.S. Pacific northwest lumber strike was indicated to-day.

One cheering sign was an agreement signed yesterday by the General Package Manufacturing Company at Aberdeen, Wash., granting a closed shop to the Sawmill and Timber Workers' Union and a fifty-cent minimum wage to some 100 employees.

Of wide significance was an advertisement appearing to-day in a Portland paper through which nine Portland lumber companies said they were "open to applications for all positions." Preference will be given former employees.

This was the first sizeable move to reopen Portland mills, whose operators indicated from the start they would "ride out" the strike by shutdowns.

The action was similar to that of the Long-Bell and Weyerhaeuser mills at Longview, Wash., which recently announced they had closed their payrolls and were paying off workers.

PICKETS AT MILL

Picketing was permitted to-day at the Bridal Veil lumber mill, thirty miles east of here, under a special concession by Sheriff Martin T. Pratt, who was assured by union forces picketing would be peaceful.

The concession came immediately after union forces had lost the first round of their legal battle to prevent officers from dispersing pickets at the plant. Circuit Judge James W. Crawford yesterday denied the union plea for a temporary injunction to prevent officers from arresting or dispersing the pickets.

Trial of the case to determine the question of whether or not a permanent injunction shall be granted will proceed immediately.

Britain Says Lausanne Pact Depends on Debt Settlements With U.S.

London, June 18.—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced in the House of Commons to-day that the Lausanne agreement, virtually cancelling the German war reparations, cannot be finally ratified by the Great War Allies until their war debts to the United States are settled.

William Mabane, a Liberal member, asked whether the Chancellor would propose to France, Italy and Belgium that this condition be waived precedent to ratification of the Lausanne agreement, "giving final authority to the instrument which now is capable of being disturbed by an independent act of any one of six governments."

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "No. His Majesty's government is not prepared to depart from the view that ratification of the Lausanne agreement is bound up with the problem of war debts as a whole."

NATIONAL PRICE POLICY URGED

Canadian Press

Saint John, N.B., June 18.—Adoption of uniform national prices not only for automobiles but for other Canadian-made products protected by tariff was urged before the Tariff Board of Canada at a sitting here yesterday.

Picturing tariff and rail charges as a burden to seven provinces of Canada, while the two provinces of Ontario and Quebec received 85 per cent of tariff benefits, the Saint John board of trade suggested a national price policy as a part solution for this situation.

Is New Poison Gas Explosive?

Canadian Press from Havas

Paris, June 18.—Concern was expressed here to-day over reports secret experiments with a new German "poisonous and explosive gas of terrifying power" had caused the Reinsdorf explosion disaster near Berlin last week.

"The series of explosions which occurred justify a theory that the gas burst into flames and successively ignited a series of dynamite storerooms," a spokesman for a group of Belgian chemists in commenting at Liege told a correspondent of Le Journal.

MEXICO HAS NEW CABINET

Associated Press

Mexico City, June 18.—President Lazaro Cardenas to-day was at the head of a new cabinet, formed yesterday to take the place of that he forced to resign last Friday, after his political dispute with Plutarco Elias Calles had reached its peak.

NEW PLAN FOR PRICE BROTHERS

Possibility Bowaters' Paper Mills of London May Take Over Company

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 18.—The Montreal Gazette in its financial columns commented on the future of Price Brothers and Company Limited in part as follows:

The possibility Bowater's Paper Mills Limited of London, England, may make a new offer in an effort to reorganize Price Brothers and Company, in receivership, was suggested in unusually reliable circles over the week-end. The report was coincident with the return of Hon Gordon Scott, Price Brothers' receiver, to the city from Lopdon, where he had been engaged in negotiations in this connection.

In brief, the situation is understood to be something like this: Bowater's will make a firm offer if, as and when there is every reason to believe such an offer would be acceptable to every class of creditor and security holder. To the present first mortgage bondholders, the plan is believed to provide for payment of back interest, now approximately $2,250,000, in new first mortgage bonds, interest on the entire first mortgage issue outstanding, after payment of back interest, to be paid from August 1, 1935.

Price Brothers' creditors would be paid in cash, which would be forthcoming from the proceeds of a new issue of $6,000,000 in second mortgage bonds, to be underwritten by Bowater's, the balance after liquidation of creditors' claims to be applied to bank loans and to provide working capital.

Bowater's offer to common shareholders, according to the same reliable source, will involve the issue of new shares on a basis of approximately one new share for each ten presently outstanding. After issuance of common shares in respect to preferred and common now outstanding, additional common stock will be issued as a consideration to the underwriters of the proposed issue of $6,000,000 in second mortgage bonds.

VICTORIA PAYS FINAL TRIBUTE

Whole Community Represented at Funeral Rites For Fred Landsberg

At rites in the historic Odd Fellows' Hall on Douglas Street, Victoria paused Monday afternoon to pay tribute to Fred Landsberg, a wearer of her best citizen medal.

"Small of stature, Fred Landsberg had a heart as big as a mountain, and of pure gold," said Brother A. McCabe, past grand and recording secretary of Victoria Lodge No. 1, I.O.O.F., in delivering the funeral oration before a gathering representative of every interest in the community.

Rabbi Marcus Berner of Temple Emanuel recited the ancient Jewish prayers, first in their original and then in English. Brother E. H. Combe, chaplain, and Brother C. Brown, noble grand, conducted the Odd Fellows' service. Odd Fellows were all in their ceremonial attire and the walls of the high-ceilinged hall were draped in mourning. A quartette of Frank Tupman, George Farmer, J. W. Buckler and H. S. Bentham sang Zaliner's "Where Shall I Be?" and Protherse's "Beautiful Life." Interment in the old Jewish cemetery at the top of Fernwood Hill was carried out according to both the Jewish and Odd Fellows' rites.

"We are gathered here to-day in accordance with the rites of our order, in obedience to the solemn commands of our ritual, to pay our last respects to a brother who has departed from among us," said Past Grand McCabe in his oration. "He was a great and good man, a great and good Odd Fellow, a sublime character with all the qualities that constitute true greatness. One of a family of seventeen, Mr. Lansberg left his native land when he was only a lad. He came to Canada and overcoming the handicap of education and language, grew gradually in public esteem until he became one of Victoria's foremost citizens, holding the admiration and respect of everyone with whom he came in contact.

"A plain man of the people, he had simple tastes; and one of his last requests was that his casket should be plain and unadorned; that no money be spent on flowers, but rather that it be given to the aged men. This was symbolic of the man, as was also the fact that on the morning of his last day he called his associates to his bedside and there dictated what should be done—not for himself, but for others whose welfare he always placed first.

DEVOTED TO SERVICE

"His was a life devoted to service; he gave unstintingly of his time and talents; he was ever at the call of his more unfortunate brethren. The poor, the sick, the aged, the blind never appealed to him in vain. With a wonderful ability for organizing, with an energy that belied his age, with a personal appeal that none could resist, and, most important of all, retaining the utmost confidence and implicit faith of his fellow-citizens, he raised large sums for the alleviation of distress.

"Fred Landsberg requires no eulogy, for his eulogy is written in the hearts of the people whom he has helped, in the community, of those who have been associated with him and know something of his many benefactions to which he devoted a lifetime.

"A humble man, he sought no reward, yet he had many honors conferred on him, among these being his nomination as Victoria's best citizen. He was also awarded the Jubilee Medal. Surely no more fitting epitaph can be found for Fred Landsberg than that he went about doing good. The whole community is the poorer for his passing. But he would be the last to wish people to mourn him, preferring rather that his fellowmen would take up the task he has laid down, reconsecrate their lives to the cause of living, making an effort to banish suffering and distress from the earth. When we come to pass into the vale, may we, like Brother Landsberg, hear the welcome plaudit: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant!'"

YOUR BOY—
will you have money to give him a start in life?

The IMPERIAL Child's Thrift Plan

You plan to give him chances you never had—opportunities to enjoy sports, a college education, perhaps, and financial help when he wants to launch out for himself.

Those are your hopes. But will they materialize? When the time comes will you be pinched for the two or three thousand dollars he may need?

There is a way out! Just deposit with us a small sum each year on an Imperial Child's Thrift Plan. Then, at the proper time we will pay over to him, or to you on his account, the money you have provided to "see him through." This policy will teach your boy from his earliest years, the value of thrift and forethought.

And note this: If you should die before your child becomes of age the Company takes your place and makes the premium deposits for him until he reaches the age of 21. Then, if the policy has not reached maturity, he can make the remaining deposits himself.

Fathers! This provides an ideal savings plan for your boy. Ask us to send you full particulars, without obligation.

Dearest Daughter:

Thanks so much for sending that delightful little note, remembering my birthday. And please don't feel that its being so short made it any the less welcome.

Besides, I know what it is to have "shopper's headache"—to feel all worn out and dragged down, with your feet as heavy as lead from walking around all day.

But, my dear, why do you do it? I know you and Bob have something of a struggle to make ends meet. It won't always be that way, because I know Bob's a very ambitious young man—ambitious for you as well as for himself.

But take an old lady's advice, dear. Look for bargains—no matter how wealthy you become. But don't make an expedition of it. Make it a tour. You get a newspaper. Look for real bargains there, before you set out. Then you'll know where you're going, and you won't wear yourself out so. I know, because I do it.

WHAT A MESS!

THE YOUNG MEN WHO HAVE traveled from this Coast—having been joined by others on their way across the Rockies and Alberta and Saskatchewan—with the object of telling the Dominion government about their grievances in connection with the administration of the relief camps, seem to have persuaded two of Mr. Bennett's ministers that they really have a grievance which should be corrected.

The Ottawa government permitted these young men, whose only immediate problem is that they, willing to work, can not find work, to begin their trek from Vancouver to Ottawa, and then halted them in Regina, the Saskatchewan capital. Yesterday, Minister of Railways Manion and Minister of Agriculture Weir consulted with a delegation of these sojourners and agreed that they should be allowed to go to the seat of the federal government, there to air their grievances.

As we have said in these columns many times, the Prime Minister of Canada might have realized that his government—the government of the people of Canada—was faced with a very grave problem which demanded solution. Instead of which, the Prime Minister and his colleagues merely supplied costly palliatives under the "blank cheque" legislation.

And what is there to show for this "blank cheque" legislation? The answer is supplied by the state of affairs at Regina—the corporal's guard of the great unemployed army of this young Dominion.

On three occasions, Mr. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal opposition, implored the Prime Minister to appoint a non-partisan, impartial commision to dig into the problem of unemployment, and give to the government some sound advice on the matter. The former Prime Minister's advice fell on deaf ears.

A few months after Mr. Bennett was going to end unemployment or "perish in the attempt"—yet we have the Regina situation.

AGAIN—THEN AND NOW

ON THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF JUNE five years ago, Mr. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party of Canada of that year and now Prime Minister of this Dominion, made these remarks at Calgary, his own constituency: "To-day there are in the warehouses 200,000,000 bushels of wheat without a market. What have they—the Liberal government—done in relation to that? What are they doing in relation to that? France, Germany and Italy have raised tariffs against Canada's wheat. We will look over the top of the hill and beyond the horizon to make provision for the Canadian agriculturist and secure him markets against those products. This is a question that will have to be solved. I told my audience at Winnipeg and I tell you here and now that condition I will not permit to continue in this country."

Then Mr. Bennett went on to say: "Men and women, the policy of the Conservative party to-day is to establish stability of markets, the establishment of permanent channels of trade. We shall see to it that the strength and power of a nation stands behind the people of these plains and every part of Canada to market their products to the best possible advantage. That is my duty. That is my business. How otherwise can we succeed?

"I ask the people of the city to see that the great industry of agriculture may be increased, that railways may have traffic and men may have employment and prosperous farms, and farmers' wives and daughters may enjoy life instead of the conditions under which they now exist.

"Until we do that—pass legislation enabling Canadians to get employment in Canada—we will not rest; and more, the first session of Parliament of any administration that I may lead will pass that legislation, or perish in the attempt."

All the commentary that is necessary on this economic panegyric of Mr. Bennett is that there were 117,000 idle workers in the summer of 1930—that there are now about 700,000, and about a million Canadians drawing relief in one form or another. The Prime Minister ought to shut up shop at Ottawa and bring on a general election.

A GRIM PARALLEL

AS PARLIAMENT DRAGS WEARILY into the summer, the spectacle of the Bennett government, clinging to power, trying every desperate expedient to prolong its life, begins to suggest a certain grim parallel which British Columbians have not forgotten. It begins to suggest, in all its desperation and all its hopelessness, the last days of the last Conservative administration in this province—the same disaffection of ministers, the same cabinet disagreements hardly hidden now below the surface, the same anxiety of private members to save their own seats whatever happens to the party, and finally the same futile talk of a national ministry to save the nation.

They do things at Ottawa with an unction which provincial politics does not possess. They put a better face on desperation and defeat. They make more eloquent speeches in more elaborate surroundings. The importance of a federal government, up to a point, can disguise the paralysis and decay which are quickly visible in a provincial ministry. Besides, the great distance of Ottawa from most of the people of Canada, both in a geographical and political sense, helps to gloss over the true facts, until the cracks in a tottering structure are hardly observed by the electorate until just before the fall.

It is now clear, however, even to the most casual observer, that the Bennett government, despite its impressive front, its sudden enthusiasm for reform after five years of office, the renewed fire and fervor of its leader, is in the process of rapid disintegration. It does not know who will lead it into the election. It is torn between the group on the so-called left supporting Mr. Stevens which does not think that the new reform programme has gone far enough; and the other group on the right, which is appalled because reform has gone too far. It has lately reached the summit of confessed futility when its minister of justice introduces sweeping legislation in defiance of provincial rights and admits to the House that it probably is unconstitutional.

It only needed the talk of a union ministry to complete the British Columbia parallel, the last days of provincial Conservatism. From now on the disintegration will proceed apace, and even though federal politicians, with a greater skill, a longer experience and more picturesque trappings, may hide the process better, the result will be the same.

If British Columbia Conservatism had gone to the country in due time and accepted the verdict of the people, it would have been defeated, but it would have survived with a respectable measure of strength as a party and a force in public affairs. It waited and temporarized and bargained, and tried to wriggle through. It ended in something close to annihilation, a farce too disagreeable to be amusing.

To thoughtful Conservatives the parallel which is developing at Ottawa, and the similar result which impends, must be humiliating. It is humiliating also to the electors as a whole, for it implies that, given the opportunity to vote, they can not be trusted to decide the future government of the country, that the country must be saved from the people at all costs as long as possible. For all its forms and ceremonies, its splendid chamber, its unctuous debate, its swelling Hansard, the eloquent voice of its Prime Minister, this Parliament is rapidly becoming a kind of political ghost which goes through all the motions of life but lives not. The sooner it submits itself decently to the electors and goes its way, the better it will be for the country and for democratic government in Canada.

WHAT THE PRINCE SAID

LIKE HIS FATHER, THE PRINCE OF Wales has won a reputation for tact and excellent judgment in his many contacts with the people of the British Isles, and the people of foreign countries. But he appears to have incurred some criticism from the press for remarks he made the other day to an officers' training corps at a Hertfordshire boys' school.

He said on the occasion in question: "It is always a mystery to me that a certain number of misguided people, I will even go so far as to call them cranks, that the only way they can show abhorrence to war is by discouraging and, if they are in authority, prohibiting any form of healthy discipline and training."

London newspapers of pacifist views, says Mr. A. C. Cummings in his dispatch to the Southam newspapers, seized on the words "misguided cranks" and declared: "The Prince showed less than his usual tact and good sense in holding up to public derision those who happen to disapprove of officers' training corps as part of the regular educational system. Why must the zeal for physical training expose to contempt those people who happen to think that young lads can better spend their time in other ways than learning the use of the rifle for the ultimate purpose of killing other Europeans?"

It is only natural, of course, that a controversy has arisen and it promptly spread to the Prince's suggestion that British ex-servicemen should pay Germany a friendly visit to indicate that the Great War has been forgotten. Some newspapers, however, are printing bitter letters from former prisoners of war in Germany detailing the brutalities to which they were subjected while Germany thought she was going to be victorious, and The Manchester Guardian on Saturday said undoubtedly the Prince's suggestion will be exploited by the Nazis in their propaganda for the Hitler government and for a regime so abhorrent to British minds.

The sentiment of the people of Great Britain about war was recently expressed by the Peace Ballot—an overwhelming verdict of a dependable cross-section of the public in favor of doing away with everything likely to cause international friction. What the Prince said, of course, can be balanced by the many fine things he has said and will continue to say—his good works in many ways.

JUST FOLKS

AT A WEDDING

I never hear them spoken by a young and lovely bride
But I have a curious feeling and a lump comes in my throat
And I wonder if that fellow who is standing at her side
Appreciates the meaning of the vows they glibly quote.
"For richer, for poorer," and "for better or for worse,"
"In sickness and in health," so the promises are made
Through all the year shall bring them! Oh, there's much I could rehearse
To be suffered on the long road which should make them both afraid.

And I think how she will need him in the days that are to be,
And I pray when come the trials he will prove himself a man.
There'll be all the hurts to cope with which have come to her and me,

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

LARGE FORTUNES

Le Soleil, Quebec

To answer this eccentric question, "How much is too much?" let us say that a private fortune becomes a danger to society if it is improperly acquired; if it is immobilized to the detriment of the general needs (of society); if he who possesses it seeks to defraud the tax-gatherer by false returns; if it is used for illegitimate ends, for corruption, dishonest connivance. In a Christian country, the rich man who fulfills well the obligations which his fortune places upon him is not a mark for the hatred of the envious; he is respected as a benefactor who contributes to progress and to the equilibrium of a sane society.

A THOUGHT

A reproof enteth more into a wise man than an hundred stripes into a fool.—Proverbs xvii 10.

Loose Ends

M. Boyer finds he's only a lover after all—The bold boys turn out to be sissies—Mr. Coward isn't a god after all—and two new clubs are formed.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LOVER

M. CHARLES BOYER, the French actor who has been making movies in Hollywood and was seen here lately in "Private Worlds," has just said a significant thing. He said he could tell by his fan mail that the women of America do not regard a male character on the screen as an actor at all, but as a lover. They don't want him to act. They want him to be amorous.

M. Boyer has hit the nail on the head and explained in a word why the movies have brought success to so many fellows who don't know a thing about acting. A majority of all movie audiences are women, and they go to escape the monotony of their own lives. They go to acquire for thirty-five cents a couple of hours' romance which they can never get at home.

That is the trouble with women—they never will let nature take its course. They never will realize that they have passed out of the romantic era when they start to put on weight. They still imagine they're in their teens. And as they can't acquire real lovers they go and ogle M. Boyer and the other handsome shadows of the screen, even though the shadows, unfortunately, can't ogle back. The fact that millions of other women are doing the same thing, and even writing letters to these slick lads, doesn't seem to worry the middle-aged matron. In a vicarious and respectable fashion she is highly polyandrous. She still manages to recapture some faint echo of her first falling in love.

Of course she doesn't want an actor. She wants, as M. Boyer has said, a lover, and if M. Boyer is interested in his salary cheque he will give her what she wants. Without the stout woman looking for love, the movies would collapse in a month. The stout men, with the same object in view, also are valuable material at the box office, which explains why the screen in crawling with lovely gals who have nothing behind their sickly-sweet faces. The stout, middle-aged gentlemen don't want to see them act. They just want to see them and love them. It makes them feel young and slim again. It is all very beautiful. If M. Boyer could see how many stout, middle-aged men and women have recovered their youth and found romance for thirty-five cents, he would feel that he had really done something worth while for a grim, unhappy world.

WEAKLINGS

DR. JAMES H. WALL, noted American psychiatrist, tells the American Psychiatric Association that after a long study of drunkenness he is satisfied that people don't drink liquor in large quantities because they like it. They simply drink it to get away from life, because they haven't got the courage to face the facts with the rest of us. Tipplers, who usually appear to be big, bold fellows, are really weaklings who can't take life on the chin, and the grandeur which seems to surround these lads who paint the town red isn't very grand after all.

This is rather hard on the current ideals of manly conduct, for, judged by the magazines and the movies (pardon me mentioning them again), no male can be really heroic unless he is frequently tight. In the magazines you will learn that nobody, male or female, can be really smart and genteel, either, without a cocktail in hand, containing some fine old southern rye (one month old and made of wood alcohol). On the screen you will observe that all the successful fellows, particularly the sharp, human sleuths like William Powell, consume, on the average, two highballs per minute and keep a private distillery in the pantry.

It looks grand, but according to Dr. Wall, it's just a sign of weakness. And it will be hard on the British Columbia government if dangerous doctrines like Dr. Wall's get abroad. The British Columbia government would be in a fine jam if people started to get strong and brave and stopped drinking far too much. Fortunately, the magazines and the movies are likely to influence more people than Dr. Wall.

NOT A COD

THIS FELLOW Noel Coward, who can write plays, sing songs, compose music and act on the stage, has always been rather of an aggravation, don't you think? I mean to say, such a universal genius is a sort of reflection on the intelligence of everybody else. It gives you an inferiority complex, makes your cleverest citizens and ablest statesmen look hopelessly stupid by comparison. Why, the fellow writes a whole play during a week-end house party in the country, then goes and acts in it and finally puts it into the movies, after composing a few songs to go along with it. It's annoying.

Well, I am glad to say that Mr. Coward has been found to lack that utter perfection which is generally credited to him. I saw him the other day in Vancouver playing in the movie which he and a lot of other geniuses produced independently in New York. It is called "The Scoundrel." Mr. Coward is the main actor and practically the whole show, except for a series of beautiful ladies. And, speaking frankly, I thought Mr. Coward was a ham.

As was said of Goldsmith, he writes like an angel but talks like poor Poll; not perhaps like poor Poll, but like a tailor's dummy. Never for a moment are you unaware that Mr. Coward is acting. Always he is a shadow instead of a man—and a rather unctuous, self-complacent shadow, too. The picture itself is interesting and worth seeing because it is something which Hollywood would never have tackled, a sort of whimsy in which, among other things, the dead return to earth, and it is full of Mr. Coward's glassy, brittle witticisms that cut like a knife. But it is a considerable satisfaction to see that he really isn't a god.

ORGANIZATION

"YOU KNOW what?" said the little girl from next door. As I didn't know what, she explained. "We got a club at school now. Not a club like a stick, you know, but a club what you can join into. We've all joined into our club—Dinny and Jimmy and Jane and I. But nobody else can join into it because it's secret. Everything's secret in our club, you know, even the name of it. It's called the Big Bad Wolf Club. Dinny is the big bad wolf because she's the biggest. And besides, she has such long teeth, you know. Did you ever see Dinny's long teeth? You ought to, Boy, they're swell."

"I've got a club, too," her brother stated. "It's secret. Nobody's joined into it but me."

"What," I ventured to ask, "are the respective objects of these two clubs?"

"Sometimes," said she, "we get ice cream cones."

"Got no objects," said he. "Just me. Nobody else is allowed."

"We have a secret yell in our club," said she. "It's secret. It's 'woof, woof!' That's the big bad wolf call. When Dinny does it, with her long teeth, it sure makes everybody shiver."

"It wouldn't make my club shiver," said he. "We're brave. Yesterday, you know what my club did? We founded a pheasant's nest with seven eggs, and we broke them all with a stone. Boy, did they smell, though! That's how brave our club is."

"Bluh!" said his sister. "There's only you in your club. Besides, you haven't got any secrets."

"Have so!" said he. "It's a secret where the pheasant's eggs are."

"Where are they?" said she.

"I've forgotten now," he said vaguely. "Somewhere in the woods. You can tell by the smell. It got on my boots when I walked in it. Had to leave them out on the porch all night."

"Go on! You'd be afraid if Dinny did the big bad wolf with her big teeth at you."

"Would not. I'm not afraid of Rogers's big red bull, even. He's the daddy of all the baby cows, George says. But I don't believe it. He never goes near the baby cows. Doesn't take any notice of them. He's no daddy."

"Our club," said she, "sometimes gets ice cream cones at Larry's. If we can get a nickel."

"My club does, too," said he. "And peanuts, too. If we can get a dime. That's our secret."

Having been equipped to fulfill these important public duties, the two clubs moved off now, in the direction of Larry's, another triumph of organization and propaganda.

HERE'S A JOB FOR SOMEBODY!

To the Editor:—There must be plenty of people like myself who have no lawn-mower, and don't like borrowing from the neighbors, who would be thankful to know of somebody to come regularly once a week and mow my lawn and trim the edges.

In the case of most of these little bungalows an hour or less would do it and make all the difference in the look of the garden—particularly to those of people anxious to sell or rent.

Anyone possessing a lawn-mower could soon work up a good connection and a good living, by working geographically, taking (for instance) one district Mondays, another Tuesdays, and so on; going to Mr. A. at 8 a.m., to Mr. B. next-door at 9—Mr. C. a block away at 10.05, and perhaps Mr. D. three blocks away at 11.15, and after his luncheon (which he might get at one house in return for this job, instead of cash), he could do three or four more lawns, according to the size, before supper-time.

Forty cents once a week would be within the means of many, who would also be glad to feel that this was helping out someone else; and forty cents from forty-four houses comes to about $75 a month.

SUNSHINE INN

To the Editor:—Will you allow me a small space in your valuable paper to express my opinion regarding the closing of the Sunshine Inn.

It has been my great pleasure on several occasions to be "behind the scenes." I have seen lean, pallid men grow robust and healthy from having one or two good meals a day, and they are good meals, well cooked, and not to be purchased in the city for 25 cents. Between thirty and forty children go there every Saturday, and now their holidays are coming along what are they going to do? If the inn closes, mothers cannot take a days work and know that the children have somewhere to go. Little tots of two years frequent the inn in care of one older sister. If the people responsible would only stop and think—I suppose they are all monied people—why not give the other man a break even if it is summer time. Work does not spring up like flowers do and one is just as hungry in the summer as any other time.

I am sure those in connection with the inn have just acted hastily and I do hope, for all concerned, that they will rescind their decision and keep it going for the one meal a day until the autumn, when two meals a day will again be served.

PUBLIC CREDIT

To the Editor:—It seems to the writer that your editorial, "A Shylock Policy," of recent issue, has posed a question. Every thoughtful person will agree with your statement: "In the long run nothing less than the public control of the nation's governmental credit, under a central bank owned by the Canadian people, will break the monopoly of money."

But the question that arises is this: What will be the policy behind this control by the people, through their government, of their national credit?

Will it continue to be the issue of money as debt, as at present, so that as the volume of created money rises through the years at a rate sufficient to liquidate the production of an expanding economy, so also will interest on the total of our debt-money, charged into the prices of everything we purchase, continue to be a factor in the deficiency of purchasing power that results when, under our present system, prices are created at a greater rate of flow than purchasing power, as incomes, is distributed?

Or will the farce inherent in this situation become apparent before the "public" control of the nation's credit by continuing to issue money as debt and become, as did the Commonwealth Bank in Australia, merely an agency of the monopoly of money, not its master?

I think you will agree that until the policy of a credit-creating institution, whether governmental or private, is changed, the matter of control is unimportant. A governmental central bank, operating under precisely the same policy as a private central bank, as in the case of the Central Bank of Canada, would, indeed, face two handicaps from the start, viz: The frequent irresponsibility of political control and less efficiency. Actually bankers know their business very well, and until the people of Canada decide that the policy of banking must change, what can we suggest to bankers that they do not already know?

In conclusion, it seems to me that Major Douglas is right when he declares that not only should the growth in volume of money be a function of government, but also that the policy of its issue must change, that it must no longer be issued as a debt which can never be paid, and which is forever and ever a load on our backs, but must be issued exactly at the rate which physical wealth increases, and debt-free for the sole purpose of enabling the people to consume the goods and services they have created.

Collusion In Money Markets

Looks Like Attempt to "Teach B.C. a Lesson," Premier Charges

British Columbia, as well as Ontario, is beginning to suspect that eastern financial interests are getting together to ignore it and "teach it a lesson" because of its advanced credit ideas.

This idea was thrown out by Premier Pattullo in the course of a radio speech yesterday evening when he referred to the province's failure to get money for roads and bridges either from the Dominion Government or the eastern money markets.

"I think it is not going too far to say that there is a considerable measure of collusion to 'teach British Columbia a lesson'," the Premier charged. "Well, we shall see," he added.

In connection with the government's decision to finance the road programme by buying up the bond issue with sinking fund earnings, the Premier said:

"The moneys which we are investing in the new bonds is the revenue derived from already existing sinking fund. We are not depleting our sinking funds, as has been intimated, but instead of selling bonds to brokers and then buying them back, we are purchasing them direct."

WHAT GOES UP MUST COME DOWN

Did you take the skyride at the Chicago World's Fair? Then breathe a sigh of relief that you are not still on it, for here is the end of that spectacular creation of engineering genius. The west tower of the ride is shown falling after charges of dynamite wrecked the base. This was one of the most difficult feats connected with demolition of the fair buildings.

Luxton

The monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Baxter. Miss Savory of Langford was a guest and gave hints on bouquet making. Final arrangements were made for a flower show on July 10. The conveners will be: Home cooking, Mrs. Sparks and Miss B. Hall; needlework, Mrs. L. Hutchison; tearoom, Mesdames Hobbs, Walker and Caton; decorated tables, Mrs. Hankin and Mrs. Baxter; superfluities, Mrs. Trace and Mrs. Goodsell; vegetables, Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Henderson; flowers, Mrs. Hankin and Mrs. Baxter; candy, Mrs. Duncan; ice cream, Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Boulton; children's cooking, Mrs. Heath; competitions, Mrs. Welch; musical programme, Mrs. Morrow; reception committee, Mrs Baxter.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-teacher Association will be held in the school on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

An old time dance under the auspices of the hall committee will be held on Wednesday.

A C.C.F. meeting was held in Luxton hall Friday evening. Dave Pearce was chairman and introduced John Smith of Langford and J. S. Taylor of Vancouver, candidate in the Nanaimo federal riding.

Mr. Smith explained the attitude of youth towards politics. The time had come when they must act, and not listen, he said. "Our Social Position" was Mr. Taylor's subject. The C.C.F., he said, was at war with one common enemy, capitalism. He was not seeking election for ambitious purposes but for usefulness to his fellow man.

Stories in STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

STEEP, RED-TILED, gabled roofs, rainbow-tinted houses, streets scrubbed spotless—that sounds like Holland, and it is—Holland of the Caribbees. This beautiful spot that is so Dutch is Curacao, the little island in the lower West Indies that has belonged to the Netherlands since 1634 and that to-day is an important export centre. Here it was that the famous Curacao liqueur, made from a peculiar variety of orange, originated, and here it is to-day where travelers are reminded of the land of dikes and canals.

In 1934 the Netherlands issued a special stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of this island's accession to Dutch territory. The illustration is that of Willemstad, the chief city, built very much like any city in Holland.

TOOK PART IN FESTIVITIES

W. J. Woodley Tells of London Scenes During Royal Wedding and Jubilee

After an eleven-month tour of Great Britain and the continent, Jack Woodley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Woodley, Wellington Avenue, has returned to Victoria. Mr. Woodley was in London during the wedding of Princess Marina and the Duke of York, and the Silver Jubilee festivities.

"I was more impressed with the crowds than anything else at the wedding, but they were nothing compared with those that lined the streets during the Jubilee procession," Mr. Woodley said.

During his sojourn, Mr. Woodley made London his headquarters and from there he traveled to northern England and the continent. He spent Christmas in Paris and went for a ten-day walking tour along the Rhine in Germany. He also visited in Belgium.

Mr. Woodley saw the King and Queen on several occasions during the Jubilee, twice during the procession to and from St. Paul's Cathedral. He also saw various celebrations, and attended an "at home" at B.C. House, to which all British Columbia residents overseas were invited.

One of the most remarkable features which impressed Mr. Woodley during the festivities was the effect of floodlighting. Every building and store on London's main streets was brilliantly illuminated and it was a truly wonderful sight, he said. The extended celebrations had served to bring prosperity to many hotels and resorts in the Old Country, he noted.

On his way from Victoria, Mr. Woodley traveled the entire route by boat, taking forty-two days. He went by way of the Panama Canal and Jamaica. On his return he left England on May 23 and took a freighter to Montreal, a fifteen-day journey. From Montreal he traveled by bus through the United States.

He spoke of the high excitement which reigned in Butte, Montana, when the Weyerhaeuser ransom money was found there. Mr. Woodley spent a day in Butte, and it happened to be the day the money was found.

CONFEDERATION LIFE ADVANCES

"The Confederation Life Association has passed another milestone, its assets are now more than one hundred million dolars," announces V. R. Smith, general manager and actuary, in a summary of the company's progress during the first five months of 1935.

With a substantial increase in new insurance written, the business in force shows a gain of almost five and a half millions for the five-month period and the income of the association shows increases in single, annuity, group and first year premiums.

The excess of income over outgo in the five months was almost $2,900,000, or an increase of slightly over 30 per cent as compared with the same period of the preceding year.

An improved mortality experience is also reported for the current year.

"These indications of improved business are signposts indicating improved conditions in practically all the countries where the association is doing business," adds Mr. Smith.

LADY BYNG SENDS THANKS

Canadians "Most True and Valued Friends," Says Widowed Countess

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—A message of thanks to those in Canada who "remembered her in these dark days of her irreparable loss" has been received from Viscountess Byng of Vimy by Col. H. Willis O'Connor, aide-de-camp to the Governor-General, who acted in the same capacity for Lord Byng. The message is as follows:

"The Viscountess Byng of Vimy wishes to thank all the personal friends, associations and military organizations, who have so kindly remembered her in these dark days of her irreparable loss. To her, as to Lord Byng, Canada has always been a second home, and its people their most true and valued friends."

First Communion Mass Was Held

On Sunday morning in St. Andrew's Cathedral Rev. Father Gaudette celebrated a very simple and impressive First Communion Mass and spoke to the class of thirty-five small children, who under the direction of the Sisters of St. Ann, sang very sweetly a specially arranged service.

Immediately following the ceremonies, which were attended by a large congregation, the children were breakfast guests of the Catholic Women's League in the Parish Hall. Convened by Mrs. Blair Reid, president of Victoria Subdivision, the breakfast arrangements were charmingly carried out. The children were seated at long tables decorated with poppies and gold candles. The committee in charge included Mrs. Gillis, Mrs. C. A. Webb, Mrs. J. D. Kissinger, Mrs. D. Danes and from the Junior League: Miss Kay Morray, Miss Norah O'Connell, and Miss Margaret O'Neill.

Bridge Chains Are Latest Fad

Hold a Party, Collect 25 Cents Each and Eventually You Collect Is Method

Another version of the chain letter racket is making the rounds in Victoria. It is reserved for women bridge enthusiasts.

A woman is invited to a chain bridge party, attends and pays twenty-five cents. She then invites four of her friends to her house, collects twenty-five cents from each and forwards $1 to a person whose name she received at the first party. Her own friends are then asked to hold similar bridge parties each being furnished with the names of those in the chain. Eventually each hostess receives the money collected at future parties.

Reports were current to-day of Victoria women who have taken in as much as $25 and $30 through these bridge chains.

The best part of this chain, the participants explain, is that even if you get no returns you have enjoyed an afternoon of bridge and refreshments in return for your quarter.

One of the newest and most convenient tables has four shelves and may be used either for an end table or against the wall. Another copies the Swedish provincial idea and has two shelves. Incidentally, the Swedish built-in bed, which in olden times held not only most of the family, but guests of the house, is being copied in many modern apartments.

NEW GADGETS ARE HOUSEKEEPING AIDS

The housewife's favorite gadget for the housecleaning season is likely to be a new dustpan with a rubber edge that allows the pan to lie perfectly flat so that every particle of dust may be easily swept into it. The pan is partly covered so that the dust, once in, cannot spill out.

Another new wrinkle that it is surprising somebody didn't think of before, is a tooth brush rack covered by a glass dome, so that the drying brushes need not collect dust and germs. Special ventilation and an antiseptic aroma are features.

Lodge to Meet—Daughters of St. George, Victoria Lodge No. 83, will hold their regular meeting in the S.O.E. Hall Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. At 8.30 o'clock a card game will be held.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THIRTY-TWO OUNCES A DAY IS ALL MILK BABY EVER DEMANDS

It is difficult for a mother to understand that, when a baby weighing sixteen pounds at five to six months of age, gets thirty-two ounces of milk that he is getting all the milk he ever needs, daily, no matter what his age or weight.

The baby of sixteen pounds needs thirty-two ounces of milk, but as he gains in weight his nourishment is satisfied by increasing amounts of other foods, orange juice, cereal, vegetables, puddings, breadstuffs, fruits and so on.

THIRTY-FOUR OUNCES OF MILK

Mrs. R. deB. writes: "Your formula for a six-months-old baby calls for thirty ounces of milk, one and one-half to two ounces of sugar, and enough water to make forty ounces fir five feedings. My baby is only four and one-half months old and weighs seventeen pounds! If you multiply this weight by two you get thirty-four ounces—and yet you say a baby never needs more than thirty-two ounces.

"I solved this by not adding water and giving thirty-four ounces of whole milk and five tablespoons of sugar in five feedings. Baby takes seven ounces at all but the middle of the night feeding when he takes the remainder.

HAS NIGHTMARES

"He has four tablespoons of cereal at 10 and 6, four tablespoons of sieved vegetable at 2 and orange juice. He is healthy and happy and has no fear of strangers. He goes to bed in his own bed and room with the door closed and no lights.

"But he does have what I would call nightmares. He wakes up and screams and acts frightened. He calms down when we hold him and even tries to smile while he is sobbing. Then he goes back to sleep. What do you think is wrong?"

TOO MUCH MILK

For one thing your formula is wrong. It should be thirty-two ounces of milk, plus enough boiled water to make up the fifth feeding. Also you did not mention cod liver oil or any other vitamin D product. A calcium deficiency may cause these manifestations, and that is helped by sunbaths, Vitamin D and the right diet—which he has.

For a stamped and self addressed envelope you may have "What to Do For Night Terrors." This leaflet may be obtained by sending a stamped, self addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the 'Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper and asking for the leaflet by name.

DON'T OVERFEED

You are giving large quantities of food and at this early age the baby may suffer at night with indigestion and gas pains which would cause the wakefulness and screaming.

It does not pay to overfeed even though baby apparently can take such large quantities. I would keep your present formula and additional foods stationary until the baby actually shows by failure to gain or hunger symptoms that there is need for an increase.

To-morrow: "Mother With One Brilliant, One Stupid Child Has Serious Problem."

Decorating the Ears

Life-saver jewelry, thick rings of gold or frosted silver, can be worn either as clips or earrings.

Stars, arrows and half moons are smart for the ears.

And if you want to be very, very chic, wear your clip earring (a small one, of course) on the top of your ear. That would mean, naturally, that your would have to be using one of the severe new hair dresses that reveals your entire ear.

Objects To Women In An Orchestra

Sir Thos. Beecham Would Segregate Men, He Tells London Audience; Other Noted Conductors Differ in Views

London (By Reuter's)—"Ladies are a danger in an orchestra, and where they are not a danger, the orchestra is not fit to be called an orchestra," declared Sir Thomas Beecham, speaking at the Jubilee dinner of the British Women's Symphony Orchestra recently.

"A man who is not thrilled to the bone by the spectacle of a lady playing a flute, blowing a clarinet, or struggling manfully with the intricacies of the trombone is no man," he continued. Sir Thomas further amused the guests by saying that if he were founding a women's orchestra, he would set out to discover one hundred of the most beautiful women in this country, for anyone can play an instrument, and there is no inherent reason why a beautiful woman should not play an instrument just as well as a plain one.

He then suggested that women should be segregated in orchestras of their own, and that every town in England should have a women's orchestra.

IN NAUGHTY MOOD

Dr. Malcolm Sargent remarked, "It was merely Sir Thomas in his naughtiest mood. If you are going to have women capable of playing in orchestras, I see no reason why they should not play with the men in orchestras.

"I would always select the best players upon their merits, regardless of sex. But with regard to the brass instruments, if the players were of equal merit I would always choose the man, because the brass instruments require particularly strong physique."

Mr. Serge Krish, conductor and founder of the New Metropolitan Symphony Orchestra, said that out of the eighty players in his orchestra, twenty-five were women.

"I find that the presence of the women in the orchestra results in a much higher standard of discipline and behavior being maintained," he added.

NEW "PLAY WAY" FOR SCHOOLS

The modern child is a very lucky person. His lessons are disguised so cleverly that school-hours are just like a game, and yet all the time he is learning valuable lessons.

One of the very latest ways in which he is taught how to use hand and brain is by puppets, which are being introduced in schools and training-colleges all over the country, largely due to a very clever woman, Nancy Henry, who has invented a simple method by which the children can make their own puppets.

These little figures are not worked on strings, but are in the form of gloves, with different amusing heads, and the children find it easy and fascinating to make the different characters, and also write little plays and make their own theatres.

WHITEHALL PUZZLES 80,000 WOMEN

Eighty thousand women Civil Servants are to be brought under the same pensions scheme as their men colleagues, and this decision of the treasury has caused much wracking of brains among the typists of Whitehall.

Under the Pensions Act of 1909, men receive a lump sum of retirement, but they sacrifice a good deal of their pension in so doing—about two-thirds, of their salary, in fact.

The women, whose pensions are regulated by an older act, at present are not entitled to a lump sum, but continue to receive a pension of two-thirds of their salary.

And now they have to decide which is best for them, the lump sum and a smaller pension, or the full pension.

It is a very difficult choice, but they will probably be influenced by the fact that is is well-known that women pensioners live longer than men, and decide to retain the full pension.

RACE-HORSE OWNER AT FIFTEEN

A fifteen year-old girl made her debut recently as a race-horse owner. She is Ines Bennett, daughter of Mr. G. N. Bennett, the trainer, and her horse, Zeni, ran in the Sussex Plate at Lewes.

She invented the name of the horse by inverting the letters of her own Christian name, and she has registered her colors, jade green and gold stripes with a black cap.

The horse is a present from her father, and he gave it to her because two years ago she could ride as well as any stable-lad, but now she can hardly walk, because of a very severe illness.

"My daughter has always been interested in horses," said Mr. Bennett, "and I gave her the four-year-old which she has called Zeni to compensate her for not being able to go freely about them, and to occupy her mind."

CATHOLIC CLUB

The monthly business meeting of the Catholic Young People's club was held on Thursday evening. Bowling prizes will be distributed soon to the winning team. It was then decided that the club would buy the girls' softball sweaters. The report on the tennis club was discussed. In spite of the fact that a considerable sum has already been spent on the court, nothing more is to be done to it. A benefit softball game and entertainment will be held shortly for Frank McDonald, who broke his finger at a softball game last week. Final arrangements will be made later. The club will also take charge of the ice cream and soft drink stand with the help of the Children of Mary at the garden party this week in aid of St. Louis College. George Murtagh was appointed to look after the door and hall at all future meetings. The next meeting will be held next Thursday in the form of a beach party at the Willows Beach. Those who plan to go are asked to bring their own lunches.

King Carol Hears Peasants' Warning

Associated Press

Brasov, Rumania, June 18.—Political leaders of the National Peasant Party voiced bitter criticism of King Carol, his intimate friend, Madame Magda Lupescu, and the present Liberal government at a nationwide rally yesterday.

King Carol was warned by Dr. Elliott Maniu, party leader, to banish Madame Lupescu before the peasants, who form 85 per cent of the population, rise in revolt against the throne.

The Way Beyond

By JEFFERY FARNOL

CHAPTER XLVI

Gasping voices . . . shouts . . . quick, stern commands . . . a wild and furious trampling to and fro and the great animal, conquered at last, is dragged away.

"No, Shrig, no . . . but Clipsby . . . oh my God—see yonder!"

"Sir, I've seen!"

"Poor . . . poor fellow. It was heroic, Shrig."

"Cover him up, man! Oh, for kind mercy's sake—cover him! Here, take my coat!"

"Werry good, Sir Peter, but first . . ." Mr. Shrig's deft and nimble fingers became exceedingly busy awhile, then, sitting back on his heels, he stared up at Sir Peter in a rather horrible bewilderment.

"What is it, Shrig—what now, man?" demanded Sir Peter easing his bruised body out of his close-fitting coat.

"The letter, sir! There should ha' been a letter . . . a letter as I worked for, schemed for . . . there should ha' been a letter and—there ain't!"

Unheeding, scarcely hearing, seeing only the awful thing that soaked the trampled grass, Sir Peter knelt and very reverently covered this broken, battered thing with torn coat and, still upon his knees, summoned divers of his men who came forthwith, bearing a hurdle wheron they laid all that remained of Eustace Clipsby.

"Take him . . . to the Home Farm," said Sir Peter hoarsely, "and bear him gently, good fellows." Then he arose and turning where little Jane crouched, mute and shivering beneath a tree, he lifted the small, trembling body and bearing her thus cradled in his arms set out for the house with Jasper Shrig ambling beside him. They had trudged thus some while in silence when suddenly from beneath Sir Peter's chin, a clear, childish voice spoke suddenly:

"Oh, please . . . will you tell me . . ." here a stifled sob.

"What, sweetheart?" he enquired, gently.

"Is he . . . gone all dead . . . too?"

"My dear," answered Sir Peter, bowing his head above the weeping child, "he has gone up . . . to be with your Fairy Prince . . . he has risen above us."

"Gone aloft!" added Mr. Shrig murmurously. "Ar—and by goles, letter or no letter, he done it like a gen'leman . . . troo-bloo . . . noble! And vich is more—like a proper man!"

Early though the hour, Charmian met them in the garden where she was snipping roses with busy scissors and on her arm a basket abrim with fragrant blossoms; but catching sight of them, down went basket and scissors and she came hurrying in quick alarm.

"Peter—the child, is she hurt?"

"No . . . no . . . poor Eustace Clipsby . . . The child is well enough, he saved her from the bull . . . but—"

"You mean . . . oh, not . . . dead?"

"Yes, dear. Oh but, Charmian . . . by God, it was noble! He fronted those murderous horns almost serenely . . . he seemed almost . . . too calm. Let us go indoors, the poor little maid has had a shock, see how she trembles."

"The poor darling! Give her to me, I'll take her to her beloved Rosemary."

Now scarcely had they reached the house than Jasper Shrig met them and he was beaming almost bright as the morning, for in his hand was a letter.

"Sir Peter," quoth he jubilantly, "this here, as I reckon, is the letter as I've expected and vorrited over. Sir, I took the liberty o' peeping into your libree and there I found it . . . on your desk vere nobody couldn't miss it. And, sir, and ma'm, it is superscribed to 'Sir Percy and Lady Wibart, to be read together'."

"But whose, what letter is it, Mr. Shrig?" inquired Charmian, stooping to kiss the small elfin face now pillowed on her bosom.

"Ma'm, it vas wrote by the late Mr. Eustace Clipsby. So if you'll get somebody to take charge o' that theer little innocent, p'raps Sir Peter'll oblige by reading same and suffer me to 'ark."

"I won't be a minute," said Charmian, and hurried away with little Jane.

"So then you expected this letter, Shrig?" enquired Sir Peter, turning it over in his hand.

"I did, sir. Since you ax me a' p'inted, I'll tell you as I schemed to get it wrote or the fac' spoke by vord o' mouth."

"You are extermely mysterious, Shrig."

"Though only now and then, air," As he spoke, back came Charmian and and closing the door:

"Now," said she, "the letter, Peter."

Slowly, and almost as though unwilling, Sir Peter broke the seal, unfolded the letter and read thus:

"'I, Eustace Clipsby, being about to front my Maker, the God of life and most just yet merciful Judge of poor humanity, do, in this last hour of life, most solemnly avow that Charles, Earl of Abbeymere died by my hand. I killed him with good cause, I shot him down as I would have slain any other merciless, ravening animal. Whether or no my act was justified I leave to the Omniscient Judge before whose awful tribunal my soul shall soon appear to answer for this and every act I have committed in the body.

"'Living, I suffered and endured much yet wrought, as I ever hoped, for the best, and would yet have lived to serve a little longer; but dying to such good purpose, I die very gladly. I shall commit execution upon this my corruptible body, leaving my soul, that I believe eternal, to the judgement and abounding mercy of my God. And to this true statement and voluntary confession I for the last time subscribe my name in the hope of pardon and life of loving service hereafter.

'Eustace Clipsby'."

For a long moment after the reading was done they were silent and utterly still, all three; then Charmian spoke in hushed question:

"But . . . he didn't . . .?"

"No, ma'm, he didn't kill hisself," said Mr. Shrig as softly: "he meant to do it, he valked out to do it . . . here's the vepping as vas to ha' been the means. I found it primed and loaded, ar—'twas laying vere 'e dropped it as he ran in to save that theer little innocent from the bull . . ."

"Ah yes . . . yes . . ." murmured Sir Peter, folding up the letter reverently, "now I understand!"

And now to such as have been so kindly patient to endure with your narrator thus long, it is to be very plainly seen (and therefore by him confessed) that here, according to all rules and regulations laid down by certain Knowing Ones, Literary Lights and Wiseacres, this story should truly end. For here the mystery, such as it is (and which has been growing ever less mysterious) is explained; faithful love crowned with a happiness which, let us hope, shall endure, and all suspense is over. Yet because this is a simple tale without any particular hero or heroine (or perchance with several) your narrator feels another chapter may be expected. A final chapter wherein we may bid farewell to Charmian and Peter in their lusty middle age as they stand on the down slope of Life's hill, their eyes on the far horizon, resolute to front whatsoever sorrows and changes Time must inevitably bring—still bound to endure by reason of their love and faith in each other.

Let us then take a parting glimpse for should we ever meet them again we must of necessity find them stricken in years, their bright eyes dimmed, themselves perhaps a little feeble and yet, beyond all doubting—lovers still.

So come thou worn and weary pen be thou recharged and let us to it again, writing thus:

CHAPTER THE LAST

In which your narrator takes particular good care you shall hear, and in right hearty fashion, marriage bells ring out in clamorous joy—heark to 'em!

CHAPTER XLVIII

Beyond all doubt it has been an extremely trying day for certain slumberous owls and bats inhabiting the aged church tower for the bells (these clamorous monsters) have been hard at it for hours; and though through the ages have rung joyful benediction on many and many a wedded pair, surely never in all their vasty length of days have they clashed more merrily or rung a blessing with heartier goodwill than today for the wedding o' Squior Vibart's Must' Richard."

Yes, undoubtedly it has been a peculiarly disturbing day for these particular bats and owls.

It has been a great day in the village, as witness the floral arches, the fluttering ribbons, the flags and—the painted tea-tray set off tastefully by garlands in little, old Mrs. Lethbridge's cottage window.

It has been a greater day at Holm Dene where Sir Peter's many tenants—farmer, yeoman and hind, have turned up to a man (and woman), sisters, sweethearts and wives, to drink health and happiness to bride and groom with three times three.

And here too was The County (most of it) surprisingly and almost ostentatiously hearty, in especial Squire Golightly and his sprightly, youthful lady.

Squire Golightly has risen (superbly Ajaxian) glass flourished aloft (rather as it had been a javelin) to toast the happy pair and thereafter (nose extremely Roman) to hurl defiance in the eye of slander and dare the tongue of calumny to ever alienate from their esteemed and highly honored host the heart, the soul, should he say—the clinging tendrils of true neighborliness and enduring friendship. Sir Peter, as one of themselves, as indeed a shining light in the county, stood to-day higher in public esteem and deeper in the . . . um . . . ah . . . hearts of his peers and neighbors than ever before . . . et caetera.

Uncle Wiggily's Candy Box

By HOWARD R. GARIS

When Buster and Duster, two of Uncle Wiggily's little rabbit boys, asked him, one day for ten cents, the rabbit gentleman wanted to know what they were going to do with so much money.

"Are you going to buy an automobile or a motor boat?" Uncle Wiggily asked. But by the way in which he twinkled his pink nose the rabbit boys knew their daddy was only teasing them.

"We're going to buy candy," said Buster.

"In a box," said Duster.

"And we'll give you some," went on Buster. "I mean some of the candy, not some of the box," he added with a laugh, for he knew his father wouldn't want to eat part of a box.

"That is very kind of you," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I'm not very fond of candy. So you may have it all yourselves. But why do you buy candy in a box? Isn't the kind you get in a paper bag good enough?"

"Oh, yes," Duster answered. "But if you buy candy and they put it in a paper bag, and if you put the bag in your pocket and play around, it gets sort of hot and the candy sticks to the paper bag."

MAKES LOTS OF WORK

"And it's lots of work to lick the candy off the paper bag after it's stuck to it," said Duster. "That's why we get a ten-cent box of candy that doesn't stick and then we divide it and throw the box away."

"Why do you throw the box away?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Why don't you save it?"

"Tisn't any good!" laughed Buster.

"Not when there's no more candy in it," said Duster.

So the rabbit boys ran to the store with the ten cents their daddy gave them and spent it all for a box of gum drops. These they ate.

Soon after this Uncle Wiggily, hopping through the woods to look for an adventure saw the empty candy box where Buster and Duster had dropped it after taking out the gum drops. The box was round and about as large as a pancake and nearly as deep as a small cup. It had held twenty-five gum drops. That was twelve each for Buster and Duster and the extra one they divided, each biting off half.

"This is a pretty box," said Uncle Wiggily as he picked it up. It had red and blue flowers on it. There was no top to the box. The gum drops in it had been covered with cellophane and this had been torn off when Buster and Duster wanted to get at the candies which they could see through the cellophane as easily as looking through a glass window.

"I'll take this candy box to Nurse Jane," said the rabbit. "Perhaps she can keep her pins in it." Holding the box in his paw, Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods when, all of a sudden, he heard a Robin bird singing most sadly. Instead of singing his "Cheer Up" song Mr. Robin was sadly yipping. "What's the matter?" asked the rabbit.

BOX BIRD NEST

"Oh, in the storm last night my nest was blown out of the tree," said Mr. Robin. "It will take my wife and me a long time to build a new nest and she is in a hurry to lay her eggs to hatch out our little birds. I don't know how to get a new nest in a hurry. Yip! Yip! Yip!"

"Here is where I can help you," said Uncle Wiggily. "Take this empty candy box. Fasten it in the tree where your old nest was. Line it with soft grass and you'll have a new nest in half an hour."

"Oh, joy!" sang Mr. Robin. He called his wife. Together they lifted the empty candy box high up into their tree. Quickly they lined it with soft grass. Then, while Mr. Robin sang a song to thank Uncle Wiggily, and flew to get worms to feed his wife, the lady Robin began to lay eggs in the candy box nest. She, too was happy. So was the rabbit.

When the little robins were hatched they sang very sweetly. Perhaps it was because they lived in such a sweet candy box nest. And if you see the roller skate chase the rubber ball up hill, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily in a net.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

If your family is like mine, this mid-spring season is the time of year when appetites need tempting and cajoling most of all—and that is the time to introduce to your table a never-repeated variety of vegetable or fruit cocktails, seasoned with palate luring spices, tantalizingly hunger-arousing.

These cocktails also add color and festivity to otherwise simple meals, are easy to make and serve, take but little time to prepare and require no last-minute fussing at serving time.

BEWARE OF SWEET COCKTAILS

Keep in mind the rule of not repeating flavors. If you serve a fruit cocktail, don't serve a fruit salad. With a vegetable cocktail, a fruit salad or a plain green salad is acceptable.

Beware of the too-sweet fruit cocktail, lest it defeat its own purpose and cloy rather than whet the appetite.

As you study the possibilities for these appetizers you will find that left-overs very often can be used attractively. The portions for serving are quite small, four tablespoonfuls being ample for each person.

In making fruit cocktails it is well to include one bland fruit in combination with two or more tart ones. A dash of lemon juice improves all appetizers, fruit and vegetable alike. Fruit cocktails gain much if mixed and placed on ice in a covered glass jar for three or four hours before serving. The flavors blend, then, into a delightful mellow whole.

The vegetable cocktails must be crisp and well seasoned. It is not best to combine too many materials, but to limit the appetizer to two or at the most three vegetables.

Cabbage and carrot cocktail is very inexpensive but pleasantly zestful.

CABBAGE AND CARROT COCKTAIL

Three-fourths cup finely shredded cabbage, ½ grated carrot, ¼ cup minced celery, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Let cabbage stand for one hour in ice water which more than covers. Drain and dry between towels. Add carrot, celery, salt and lemon juice. Lift with a fork until thoroughly mixed. Chill well and serve garnished with threads of green pepper.

TOMATO AND CELERY COCKTAIL

One good-sized tomato, 4 tablespoons minced celery, 4 large ripe olives

Peel tomato and cut in four slices. In the centre of each slice pile a tablespoonful of celery. Cut olives from stones in neat sections lengthwise and arrange them in the celery radiating from the centre to the edge of the tomato. Be sure the tomato is thoroughly chilled before serving.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs with bacon, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

PENDER ISLAND

The local C.C.F. Club held an informal whist drive on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Purdy. Five tables were in play, the winners being: First, Miss Gwen Stigings and A. Sproule; second, Mrs. Reddyhoff and Stephen Adams; third, Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Purdy.

Two clearing "bees" were held during the week, one for the purpose of getting the picnic grounds in shape, the other for cleaning up the fair grounds at the Hope Bay Hall.

Miss Jessie Grier, who has retired after forty years in mission work in India, has been a guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Menzies, Hope Bay.

Members of the Women's Institute spent Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. G. Keillor, Otter Bay, who gave an interesting demonstration on "Home Nursing and Care of the Sick or Injured."

Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P., will address a public meeting in Hope Bay Hall this evening, under the auspices of the local C.C.F. Club.

Harry Brackett, small son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brackett, fell and fractured his arm on Saturday. He was attended by Dr. Roberts, of Mayne Island.

Master Bob Johnston has returned home from Victoria where he has been attending High School for the last year.

LANGFORD

The public school basket picnic will be held Friday, June 21, at Ocean Beach Lagoon. The children will travel by truck but all parents and friends with cars willing to aid with transportation have been asked to meet at the school at 1.30 o'clock.

Gordon Cropper and Clifford Thompson, who motored through from Saskatchewan, are spending a fortnight here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Cropper, Goldstream Road.

Mr. and Mrs. MacAdam are staying at Emerson Smith's bungalow on Leigh Road, Langford Lake.

Mrs. Blade, with her two children, Kathleen and Peter, left last week for England via the Panama Canal.

A meeting of the Sunday school teachers of St. Matthew's Church will be held at 7 o'clock Thursday night at Holmwood.

Langford defeated Metchosin 21 to 7 in the first softball game of the season on Sunday.

Phoenix, Ariz., June 18 (Associated Press)—Millions of tiny chinch bugs, swarming on the rails, halted street car service in two sections of this city yesterday. The pests caused the tram wheels to spin.

Crews Prepare For Dominion Day and N.P.A.A.O. Regattas

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE "mile of the century" has come and gone—a disappointment to the majority of the 35,000 who packed into Princeton's stadium to see Jack Lovelock, Oxford's New Zealand miler, defeat Bill Bonthron, Princeton ace, and Glen Cunningham, Kansas idol handily.

* * *

Widely heralded as one of the most outstanding sporting events of the 1935 summer season, the race failed to produce the record time that was expected. There was a lot of talk about the possibility of a four-minute mile before the event. Experts figured such a trio as Lovelock, Cunningham and Bonthron were just the three to come near that mark.

* * *

Lovelock breezed through to win from Bonthron by ten yards in 4 minutes 11.2 seconds, while Cunningham, whom the U.S. hails as the world's greatest miler, faded on the stretch to finish third.

* * *

The time was 3.2 seconds slower than the mark set by Lovelock when he beat Bonthron on the same course two years ago and was 5.2 seconds behind Cunningham's world record.

* * *

The curly headed New Zealander was interviewed on his arrival in the United States and asked his opinion of the possibilities of a "four-minute mile" resulting from the race.

* * *

In a typical non-committal way, the Oxford star shrugged his shoulders and answered it was no use breaking his neck to make a "four-minute mile" if the race could be won in four minutes and fifteen seconds. His outlook evidently was correct, judging from the result of the race.

On the other side of the continent Saturday, the [illegible] Trojans demonstrated to Ohio State it required more than one man, even if he were Jesse Owens, to win a track meet. The Trojans won ten points to six. Of those six, Owens scored four victories.

* * *

Possibly too many events kept the great Buckeye negro from smashing world's records. On the other hand, the Californians managed to break the half-mile relay mark and their hurdles equalled another as two sunshine state boys breasted the tape together.

After a controversy that has stirred the baseball world from one side of the continent to the other, Edwin "Alabama" Pitts, former Sing Sing convict, has been declared eligible to play with Albany Senators in the International League by Judge K. M. Landis, supreme arbiter of organized baseball.

* * *

The outcry that has been made over the Pitts case has completely shoved into the background any late comment on the retirement of George Herman "Babe" Ruth, who severed his connections with the Boston Braves and big time baseball early in the month. The scribes who were once wont to flood sports pages with the activities of the Bambino seemed to have relegated him to the realm of sportdom's forgotten men in quick order.

The provincial cabinet of Ontario and the City Council of Toronto met recently in an exhibition softball game. Even the result of the fixture seemed political—it was an eleven-all compromise.

Apart from the international implication in the realm of sport alone, the recent trend in Davis Cup tennis play must come as a nasty slap in the face to the national spirit of France. Australia, with high hopes of opposing England in the final for the prized trophy, walked through the French team, which once, at the heyday of Henri Cochet, Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra, was unbeatable on the court. And then just to make the defeat more bitter, up came Herr Hitler's men, headed by Baron Gottfried von Cramm, to whip the Australians.

As one who earned his money over the week-end, write the name of Harry Down, umpire in Victoria's double-header against Port Angeles. Harry called 'em as he saw 'em, but not to the liking of the visiting fans. Had they carried out their threats, Down would have been scraped together and lain on a slab after the fixture. Fortunately that sort of chatter is just so much helium and the most vehement in the heat of the game are usually the first to forget their grievances when the fixture is over.

Thoroughly qualified to select the greatest golfing prospects in the land through his long campaigning, Macdonald Smith names Johnny Revolta, Dick Metz and Bunny Torpey, the latter of Dodson, Mo., as a trio who will go a long way.

MACAULAY MEDAL WINNER

The monthly medal played on Sunday at the Macaulay Point Golf Club was won by Mrs. C. S. Brown with a score of 93-23—70.

Francis Favored For Times Trophy

Skimming over the Gorge course in the cool of the summer evenings, crews of the James Bay Athletic Association are rounding into shape for their next big meet, the Dominion Day regatta which will feature three through-Victoria races.

The events, along with shorter club races, will be the oarsmen's last big test before they face outside opposition in the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen's regatta at Elk Lake later in July.

Under the coaching of Dan Moses, himself a graduate of Victoria's rowing elite, the boys are working into good condition for the season's features. A new four which has been training consistently this year is expected to come through in a big way in major races, while several of the old boat loads are expected to carry their fair share of the burden as the Bays go in quest of 1935 laurels.

On July 1 the trio of races from the Causeway to the Gorge will feature the programme scheduled to start at 2.30 o'clock.

THROUGH VICTORIA RACES

In the Through Victoria fours, for the Native Sons' Cup, won last year by a local crew stroked by Chris Usher against Vancouver opposition, two J.B.A.A. boats are expected to start.

Usher will probably stroke a crew including Don Davis, Max Winkler and Jim Temple against Dillabough's four completed by Brian Tobin, Jack MacDonald and Hugh Francis.

Arnold and Jimmy Mann will probably start favorites in the Through Victoria Doubles, for the City of Victoria Cup. MacDonald and Winkler and Mac Billingsley and Fred Parker are other pairings for the event.

TIMES CUP EVENT

With two victories behind him, Hugh Francis is expected to go all out again this year for the Through Victoria singles honors, symbolized by The Times Cup. Another win this season will give him the trophy permanently. Billingsley and Jim Mann may also contest the event.

Jack Monkley will stroke a novice four composed of Ward, J. Munsie and Lloyd Patterson against Wallace's crew including Craig Alexander, Sedgley and Barrett, in a three-quarter mile event.

In the three-quarter mile singles, Billingsley, Winkler and Arnold Mann are regarded as prospective starters.

Fred Crouch and Fred Parker are billed to oppose Bill Stancil and Ian McConnan in the three-quarter mile club doubles, while two strong fours will contest the tackweight sprint honors.

TACKWEIGHT CREWS

Baker, stroke; Stancil, McConnan and Parker have been chosen for one 140-pound boat, while Joe Sparkes

BRUINS LOSE FIRST GAME

Unbeaten Record in Softball League Spoiled By Navy; Poodle Dog Also Lose

The Navy softball nine messed up the nice unbroken record of Painter's Bruins in a B section Lower Island Softball Association game at Memorial Park yesterday evening. Victors in seven straight games, the Bruins went down to defeat, 7 to 3.

Aided by the two home runs of Bert Barker, scoring six runs altogether, the Navy enjoyed a 7 to 0 lead until the last of the sixth, when the Bruins brought home two men. The section leaders also got another run in the seventh but were held scoreless during the last two innings. The sailormen piled up all their runs in the first four innings.

EAGLES WIN

Poodle Dog Cafe, holders of second place in the same division, went down to defeat and still remain a full game behind the Bruins. Eagles took the cafemen's measure at Central Park, 9 to 7. Bapcos broke into the winning column for the first time, defeating Kresges 16 to 3, also at Central Park.

In the C Section, No. 1, Spencers played off their tie game with Hill's Corner and maintained their unbeaten corner by taking the measure of the second-place nine somewhat easily.

Hudson's Bay beat the Revellers, 11 to 9, and Young Liberals accounted for the Hustlers, 9 to 8, in other games in this same section.

DECIDING FACTOR

C. ROSS "SANDY" SOMERVILLE
London, Ont., star, whose play in yesterday's interprovincial Willingdon Cup team match proved the deciding factor in British Columbia's defeat.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

Hyman A. Pressman, called "the boy orator of Baltimore," started his political career at fourteen years, and by the time he was old enough to vote he had rounded out a seven-year campaigning career which included two Presidential elections. Along with his political activities Pressman found time to become a lawyer and pass the state bar examination when he was nineteen years old.

He was born in 1914, and was graduated from Baltimore City College when he was sixteen years old. Three years later he was graduated from the University of Baltimore School of law, and within a month had passed the state bar examination after which there was nothing to do but wait until he became of age. On his twenty-first birthday he was sworn in as an attorney by the clerk of the court of appeals.

Pressman's earliest major political campaign was in 1928 when he took the stump for Al Smith. He is a veteran also of the Broening candidacy for governor, Jackson for mayor in 1931, Roosevelt's campaign of 1932, Richie's gubernatorial campaign of 1935, and Jackson's majority campaign of this year. He founded the Baltimore Young Democrats and was elected their president in 1933.

The wild boar is one of the most fearless and most dangerous of animals when it is enraged. At bay he can stand off a tiger, and there are several cases of record where a wild boar has actually killed a tiger.

BRADDOCK-SCHMELING FIGHT IN SEPTEMBER

Associated Press

New York, June 18.—It looks as if Braddock will meet Schmeling in September.

Jimmy Johnston, peppery little matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, said yesterday evening he had been informed Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, was ready to come to this country from Germany if assured a title go and that he, Johnston, had decided to stage the fight in the Long Island Bowl in late September.

Although he has not received the final sanction of Jimmy Braddock and his manager, Joe Gould, Johnston said they had told him they would agree to a meeting with either Schmeling, Lasky or the dethroned Max Baer.

Schmeling, in his last two fights in Europe, scored technical knockouts over Walter Neusel and Steve Hamas.

Golf Champ Will Show Title Shots

SAM PARKS JR.

Canadian Press

New York, June 18.—Something novel in golf exhibition matches will be offered by the new United States open champion, Sam Parks Jr., when the Pittsburgh professional starts a barnstorming tour next month.

The former collegian not only proposed to show spectators the shots that won him the title but how to play them as well. If an individual or group of spectators is particularly interested in any one shot, Parks will take him to one side after the match. In other words, he plans to give instructive exhibitions.

GOOD FIXTURES AT COBBLE HILL

South Cowichan, Hillcrests and New Method Win Softball Games

South Cowichan, Hillcrests and New Method Laundry won three softball games in a tournament staged at the Cobble Hill High School sports grounds on Sunday.

South Cowichan took the measure of Westholmes, 18 to 6, while Hillcrests downed the New Method Laundry, 6 to 4, before the cleaners came back to overcome Cobble Hill High School Cobblers, 11 to 9.

A gathering of about 300, including visitors from Ladysmith, Westholme, Duncan, South Cowichan, Bamberton, Malahat, Victoria and other points, thoroughly enjoyed the games.

PITTS READY TO MAKE GOOD

Associated Press

Albany, N.Y., June 18. — Edwin C. "Alabama" Pitts, one-time Sing Sing Prison athlete, to-day faced the job of making good for the friends whose faith caused Kenesaw Mountain Landis to unbar the doors of professional baseball.

Landis, baseball's high commissioner, late yesterday in Chicago overruled the decision banning Pitts from baseball, but made it clear that his action resulted from the numerous appeals in behalf of the ex-convict.

He ruled the twenty-four-year-old parolee might play with the Albany club of the International League, but insisted his activities be limited to regular games of the schedule.

The young southerner who served five years of an eight-to-sixteen-year term for armed robbery in New York City, was quick to express his appreciation.

"Judge Landis will never regret having made that decision," he said.

He praised the two men who led the fight to win him a baseball position, General Manager Johnny Evers of the Albany Club and Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing prison.

The Albany Club plans to start Pitts in the outfield next Sunday when the Senators oppose Syracuse.

WARDEN HAPPY

Ossining, N.Y., June 18 (Associated Press). — Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing, who encouraged "Alabama" Pitts to develop his athletic talent, heard Judge Kenesaw M. Landis's decision while motoring back here yesterday from New York.

"The decision speaks for itself — it shows intelligence," he commented enthusiastically.

"Nobody can add to it. Naturally I am pleased."

The psychological effect of the decision will be as valuable as the decision itself, Lawes said.

"It is encouraging to administrators as well as all the men in prison," he said. "It is very fine."

"Pitts is pretty cool-headed and modest, and I think he will make good in baseball. It's up to him now."

FINE BOWLING FEAT ACHIEVED

Thomas S. Mitchell, Derbyshire, Takes Ten Wickets For Sixty-four

Canadian Press

London, June 18.—For the first time in three years a bowler's dream has been achieved. Playing in a first-class county cricket match at Leicester yesterday Thomas B. Mitchell, jovial Derbyshire trundler, captured ten wickets for 64 runs. The Leicestershire players compiled a total of 123 runs, the remaining 59 runs coming from the deliveries of other bowlers on the Derbyshire side.

Three years ago Hedley Verity, star Yorkshire bowler, accomplished an unprecedented achievement when he dismissed ten Nottinghamshire batsmen at Leeds for ten runs, a much better feat than that of the Derbyshire spin bowler. Not only did Verity secure all ten wickets, but he took seven of them for three runs with the last fifteen balls he sent down. In this instance Nottinghamshire scored 67 runs.

Kent 351 and 101 for six wickets Warwickshire 243, at Folkestone.

South Africa Saved From Defeat at Hands of England as Downpour Makes Pitch Impossible; Meet Again June 29

Canadian Press Cable

Nottingham, Eng., June 18.—With victory almost certain, England had to be content with a draw against South Africa in the first of five cricket test matches concluded to-day, as an overnight rain saturated the pitch and necessitated abandonment of the final day's play.

The Mother Country held the upper hand in the tussle with the youthful invaders since the teams took the field. Led by R. E. S. Wyatt, popular Warwickshire star, England piled up 384 runs for seven wickets, declared.

Morris Nichols, Essex, brought about the downfall of the Springboks, who were dismissed for 220 runs. The fast bowler was in top form and captured six wickets for 35 runs. Forced to follow on, the tourists lost one wicket for seventeen runs when play closed yesterday. This wicket also went to the credit of Nichols at a cost of fourteen runs.

WYATT STAR

Batting honors went to Wyatt. The English skipper gave a masterful display, knocking out 149 on the first day of the match.

The first four tests are scheduled to last three days with the final game to be played to a finish if necessary to decide the winner of the series. The teams will meet again in the second test at Lord's on June 29.

HICKS BEATS RALPH BUTLER

Springs Surprise in Hillcrest Tennis Championships By Victory Over Ex-champ

Vivian Hicks upset the dope in the annual Hillcrest Tennis Club championships yesterday when he eliminated Ralph Butler, former Esquimalt and Hillcrest champion, 6-4, 6-1. The handiness of Hicks's victory in the second set, after he had taken the first, was particularly noteworthy.

Ivan Temple had a hard battle with the veteran "Skipper" McVane before winning out, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4. Another three-set struggle saw Herb Davey finally taking the measure of W. Erickson, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Biddy Boyce, defending women's champion, advanced to the final by a 6-4, 6-3, victory over Miss Thompson. In the other match played during the day, Miss Herrin won from Miss Northam, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

6 o'clock—Duckworth and Comerford vs. Erickson and McVane.

TILLICUMS BEAT NAVY

Take Second Straight Commercial League Baseball Game By Score of 5 to 3

Marking their second straight victory, Tillicums took the measure of the Navy, 5 to 3, in a nip and tuck Commercial Baseball League game at Athletic Park yesterday evening.

Wally Stipe's homer to right field, with Holness on first base, broke up the old ball game in the first of the seventh after the teams had been deadlocked 3 to 3.

The sailors enjoyed a 3 to 2 lead until the first of the sixth, when the clubmen tied up the count. The losers could collect just three hits off Lloyd Jones, while the Tillicums made twelve safeties off Kennedy and Parker. Kennedy was driven to the showers in the fourth inning, when the opposing hitters collected two runs and went into a short-lived 2 to 1 lead.

DRAW EVEN

In the last half of the same inning the sailors also brought across two runs to take the lead again.

The winners' fielders were guilty of eight errors, whereas only one boner was chalked up against the Navy. The sailors were weak at bat, however.

Navy	0	1	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	—3

Somerville Favored For Canadian Amateur Golf Title

London Ace Star As Ontario Wins Willingdon Cup

British Columbia Second in Interprovincial Trophy Play

Ken Black Second In Total Scores

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ancaster, Ont., June 18.—On a battleground he seems to like in any old kind of weather, Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., started firing to-day towards his fifth Canadian amateur golf title. As "hot" as he ever has been, Sandy ruled a strong favorite, after leading the Ontario provincial team to victory over British Columbia, the defending squad, in the Willingdon Cup match played here yesterday.

Somerville has been building up to Canadian amateur by playing more early season golf than he had found time for in many years.

He went to England before he was ready for stiff competition, but his overseas work got him down to a fine balance. He came and trounced most of the east's best amateurs in a tournament at his own club last week.

He went out in the fog and the rain yesterday and led Ontario to the Willingdon Cup triumph with two really blazing rounds of 73 and 72. If there was any doubt of the pitch to which Somerville had worked himself for the big event, it was dispelled yesterday.

LOW SCORE

He fired a good 73 in the dull morning drizzle while Ken Black of Vancouver and Frank Corrigan of Ottawa were spanking their way around in 71. It was in the second half of the thirty-six-hole medal grind, when rain pelted down so hard the start was delayed an hour, that Sandy salted away the interprovincial championship for Ontario.

He carded a par 72 while his mates faltered, Phil Farley and Jack Nash scoring 81 and John S. Lewis of Brantford taking 80. Black's 75 was the only thing to compare with Somerville's brilliant effort, and it was not good enough to give the British Columbian the low individual score for the day.

Ontario used 612 strokes to British Columbia's 619 and lifted the trophy that had been in the far west for two years. Manitoba placed third with 634 and Quebec fourth with 635. In fifth place was Alberta with 645 to New Brunswick's 723.

RAINY WEATHER

Society women, who had counted on promenading against a background of rambler roses, were forced instead to slosh about the course in rubbers and sou-westers.

Lord Ascot's Flash Bye, an 8 to 1 shot, captured the Gold Vase. Second was Lord Derby's Blackfell at 20 to 1 and third the Maharajah of Rajpipla's Soleil du Midi, quoted at 28 to 1.

LAWMAKER FAVORED

Braddock, Boring In On Baer, Forces Fight

New Fight Champion Big-hearted Bulldog

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Writer

Take a cross-section of all the big, even-tempered, slow-spoken, honest, faithful family men you know, that's one picture of the twenty-nine-year-old Irishman who dazed the fistic world by whipping Max Baer last Thursday.

Think of someone you know, someone with a big wide open face, clear eyes, not particularly smart but a bulldog in his devotion to his wife and three youngsters.

STAUNCH HEARTED

You can almost tell all these things just from looking at him in a prize ring. He has fought with broken hands, broken ribs, even a broken collar bone once, with deeply cut eyes, actually weak from lack of nourishing food. Yet he never failed to fight to the limit of his strength and ability.

My favorite picture of him outside a prize ring came in the flush days of 1929.

Braddock had lots of money then, some $80,000 in stocks and interest in Taxi companies in New Jersey. He was about to fight Tommy Loughran for the light heavyweight championship of the world. He was one of pugilism's big shots.

His manager, Joe Gould and I had a date to play golf one morning. Braddock came along to watch. There was only one caddy available. Jimmy never hesitated.

"I'll lug your sticks," he said. And he did.

LANDIS GIVES PITTS RULING

Canadian Press

Chicago, June 18. — Judge K. M. Landis, supreme arbiter of organized baseball, yesterday held Edwin "Alabama" Pitts, former convict, was eligible to play with Albany Senators of the International League.

Judge Landis's ruling was on Pitts's appeal from a disbarment order handed down by the National Association of Minor League baseball teams. Minor League executives had banned Pitts, twenty-four-year-old former inmate of Sing Sing, from signing with Albany Senators. Charges were made the Albany club planned to "exploit" the recruit.

Sickness Robs Pirate Roster

Season of Illness Hits Major League Ball Clubs; Cleveland Loses Catcher; Cy Blanton Troubled With Appendix

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The season all pennant contenders fear and few manage to avoid seems to be coming upon major league baseball. That is the time when some important player gets sick or is hurt, and all the carefully laid plans of the managers have to be rearranged.

Cleveland's first-string catcher, Little Frankie Pytlak, finally gave up his effort to recover from an illness and left for his home in Buffalo. Bill Brenzel substituted ably and made two hits in the course of an 11 to 2 triumph over the Red Sox.

BLANTON STRICKEN

The Pirates got a worse blow just after they had slugged the Phillies into submission 12 to 5 without the aid of Arky Vaughan, nursing a charleyhorse. Darrell (Cy) Blanton, brilliant rookie pitcher, was stricken with acute appendicitis.

On the brighter side of the picture, the Indians, after being delayed a half hour by rain which wiped out three other American League games, piled up seventeen blows to trounce Boston for the fourth straight time, and moved into a tie with Detroit for third place in the American League.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals were buried under a 14 to 3 score by the league-leading Giants.

PAUL DEAN BATTED

The Giants got going against Paul Dean for three runs in the second inning, belted him to cover in the fourth when the Cards blew up for three errors and four more runs counted and finished against Ray Harrell for a total of nineteen hits.

The cellar-dwelling Braves smote the Reds twice in the course of the Bunker Hill day doubleheader, 8 to 3 and 5 to 1. Wally Berger belted his tenth and eleventh home runs in the opener. Two homers by Chuck Klein, each with a man aboard, gave the Cubs their winning margin in a 5 to 3 triumph over Brooklyn.

COAST LEAGUE
Associated Press

Jack Lelivelt's Los Angeles baseball club set out to-day to swing its war sticks wildly in hopes of establishing an early lead in the second half of the Pacific Coast League season—and just as hopefully seven other teams prepared to keep the Angels off the top perch.

The Angelenos, already figured by numerous bleacherites to be the second half champion—and thereby avoid a post-season title series—probably will encounter tighter opposition than many expect.

SEALS STRONGER

For one, the San Francisco Seals loom as a menace. Frank "Lefty" O'Doul's pastimers have swung into form after an unsteady opening in the first half, and the only apparent need they have now is for an extra, reliable left handed pitcher. The Seals have been scoring runs aplenty and playing a steadily improved brand of ball in the field, but the need of more variety on the mound has had its effect.

Oakland, after leading the first-half race most of the way, also is planning a comeback. Oscar Vitt is not planning any change in his personnel, but he figures to rejuvenate the Acorns' enthusiasm, which let down somewhat as Oakland dropped from the lead to a tie for second with San Francisco.

STRIKE AFFECTS SUGAR MOVEMENT

Though there is sufficient sugar in the warehouses here for normal requirements, there will be a shortage if the stocks are not regularly replenished, said a leading wholesaler this morning. Owing to strike conditions no freight came off the night boat from Vancouver this morning. Housewives are advised to lay in their sugar now if they are contemplating preserving strawberries or other berries. If the strike situation gets worse, it is possible the demand for sugar may not be promptly met. There is plenty for immediate requirements, it is emphasized, but the future supply depends on strike developments.

SEEKS $18,000 TO AID NEEDY

Welfare Association Helps Hundreds of Families

The campaign committee of the Friendly Help Welfare Association of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt is appealing to the citizens of Greater Victoria for funds with which to carry on work for the remainder of the year 1935.

Eighteen thousand dollars is required if the needs of the hundreds of families on the books of the several associations are to be adequately met.

It was the hope of the committee that the appeal, made partly by letter and partly through the columns of the local press, would call forth a ready response, but up to date this has not proved to be the case.

It cannot be too strongly stressed that there is dire need, and in many homes a complete break-down of morale can only be averted by timely assistance, such as the associations try to give to those whose needs cannot be met by the municipal relief.

At campaign headquarters, Room 3, 640 Fort Street, information is available to all who care to ask for it regarding the work that is being done—work incidentally which is financed entirely by voluntary subscription. If each citizen would contribute a trifle the need would be met.

Recreation Plan For Unemployed

Y.M.C.A. Directors Consider Scheme For Co-operation With Provincial Government; Committees Named and Reports Heard

A plan by which Y.M.C.A. branches throughout the province would co-operate with the provincial government to provide a programme of recreational activities for the unemployed, was considered at the meeting of the board of directors yesterday evening.

The use of the extensive equipment and experience of the "Y," was considered in connection with the plan.

A committee consisting of W. T. Straith, vice-president of the "Y," Dr. T. W. A. Gray, chairman of the physical committee, and Frank Paulding, general secretary of the branch, was appointed to meet delegations from the New Westminster and Vancouver branches and the provincial government to discuss the scheme.

The possibility of such a programme of recreation for the unemployed was suggested in a letter received by the board from E. D. Otter, railroad secretary of the national association.

INTERVIEWED PREMIER

Mr. Otter was in Victoria on May 22, and at that time he and Mr. Pauling interviewed Premier Pattullo and discussed the question. The Premier regarded the scheme favorably.

Steps are being taken to organize a Y.M.C.A. branch in Prince Rupert, Mr. Otter stated in his letter.

With Y.M.C.A.'s in Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, Revelstoke and Field, and the possibility of a branch at a later date in Prince Rupert the association would have excellent facilities for co-ordinating the recreational programme. In addition the branches have extensive gymnasium and physical equipment, and are staffed with men well trained in the organization and carrying on of recreational courses.

COMMITTEES NAMED

J. Vaughan Roberts was reappointed auditor for the ensuing year.

REPORTS HEARD

Routine reports were submitted to the meeting as follows: Financial, J. O. Cameron; physical, Dr. T. W. A. Gray; boys' work, W. T. Straith and, general, Frank Pauling.

The first three reports, which contained statistical matter, all showed gains over the corresponding period of last year.

The association had secured an option on Glinz Lake, near Sooke, and adjoining territory, where the "Y" will hold its summer camp this year, W. T. Straith reported. The boys' work committee was empowered to take any course which it saw fit towards acquiring the property, if it was found satisfactory during this year's camp, which will be of an experimental nature. Steps will be taken at once to erect necessary buildings at the site.

The board authorized the leasing for another year of the badminton hall on View Street, after hearing a report on the matter from W. W. Martin.

The board will not meet again until September. The executive was empowered at yesterday evening's meeting to deal with any matters of importance which might arise before that date.

Mr. Bass had been a resident of Victoria for twenty-one years, and is survived by his widow, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. G. O. Hughes, 315 St. James Street, and two brothers, one in Marwayne, Ont., and one in Toronto.

James Parfitt yesterday evening was re-elected president of the Victoria Builders' Exchange at its annual meeting held in Spencer's dining-room and attended by a representative gathering of builders and supply-house representatives. J. N. Anderson was returned as vice-president, and W. J. Hamilton as secretary-treasurer.

One new appointment was made to the board of directors in the person of I. McCallum. Other members of the board are E. J. Cox, A. R. Frewing, R. Hurst, J. V. Johnson, W. A. Luney, W. R. Menzies, A. McKinty, A. McAulay and W. Pridham.

Mr. Parfitt, in his presidential report of the year's activities, gave credit to the Builders' Exchange for sponsoring the idea of a federal government building programme in Victoria. He also stated that he exchange had been the first to introduce a minimum wage into the building trade, and had succeeded in having it enforced.

Mr. Parfitt stated that the exchange was working in conjunction with City Council officials in preparing a revision of city building by-laws.

The financial statement for the year was submitted by Mr. Hamilton.

Witnesses For Crown Absent

Women Who Were to Testify in Assault Hearing Not in Court To-day

Because prosecution witnesses had "either been spirited away or instructed to go away," the Crown this morning was unable to proceed with the assault charge against Edward Lore, Chinese. Lore is alleged to have struck Patricia Lee, proprietress of premises on Johnson Street.

C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, informed the court this morning that Miss Lee and her witnesses had left the city. His instructions were that they had either been spirited away or instructed to leave.

He pointed out that he had feared such an event when J. B. Clearihue, defence counsel, had requested so long an adjournment of the case. The hearing was adjourned from last week.

Mr. Clearihue said this morning had been set as a peremptory date for the case and he was prepared to go ahead. He also wished to disassociate himself from any suggestion that he might have been responsible for the witnesses leaving town.

The court and Mr. Harrison both said there had been no suggestion Mr. Clearihue had been responsible for this. Mr. Harrison, however, thought it was foolish that Mr. Clearihue should ask that the case be proceeded with.

The prosecution was granted an adjournment until next Tuesday, as he stated he intended to bring the witnesses back and was not going to tolerate such action on their part.

Mrs. M. Elkington Called to Rest

Mrs. Mary Elkington of 1042 Princess Avenue passed away yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital. The late Mrs. Elkington, who was sixty-seven years of age, was born in England and came to this city forty years ago from Toronto, Ont.

There survive one daughter, Mrs. R. J. Stewart of this city; one son, Cyril, and a granddaughter, at Tofino; her father, William Arden Sr., Metchosin; two sisters, Mrs. C. Clay, Everett, Wash., and Mrs. J. Pears, Langley Prairie, B.C., and four brothers, Tom Arden, Walnut Creek, Calif.; William Jr. of Metchosin; Eustace, at Shirley, V.I., and Percy, Metchosin.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon, the cortege proceeding from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home to Christ Church Cathedral, where Dean C. S. Quainton will officiate at 2.30 o'clock.

Interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

Hollywood, Calif., June 18.—To the Editor of The Times: I don't know how you are all fixed with your state legislators, but we finally had some luck with ours at last. It adjourned last night and there is a spontaneous celebration going on to-day that is bordering on Armistice Day. Now if you can just get the main one to adjourn in Washington things will just go a-sailing and then all the politicians will have to do is just sit back and argue over who the credit belongs to for recovery. I was asked to deliver a Commencement Day address. But I couldn't do it. The pupils knew more about politics than I did.

Yours

Will Rogers.

B.C. GOLFERS WIN MATCHES

Advance Through First Round of Canadian Amateur; Somerville Wins

Canadian Press

Ancaster, Ont., June 18—C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, seeking his fifth Canadian amateur title, came through the first round in the opening play for the 1935 title with a 6 and 4 victory over W. D. S. Morden of Rosedale, Toronto.

Somerville, low man among twenty-four in interprovincial play yesterday, was brilliant on the greens and was never seriously threatened. He made the turn four up, scoring two birdies in the outgoing nine which he made in 38, three over par.

Ken Lawson of Victoria and Ernie Palmer of Winnipeg fought a bristling match up to the last green. Palmer was in trouble with his tee shot on the last hole after losing the seventeenth. His drives went into the creek and the best he could do was halve the hole, Lawson winning one up.

Dick Moore, former Victorian, came through with a smart 7 and 5 victory over J. A. Prince, Essex, Windsor.

Ted Charlton, Vancouver, went into the second round with a 2 to 1 victory over J. B. Boeckh, York, Down, Toronto.

To-day's first round of eighteen holes was played in a high east wind that brought trouble at times to tee shots. The greens dried out fast after yesterday's downpour.

THE BIG SIX

Joe Medwick staged a comeback in the Big Six batting race yesterday, snapping a slump as he hit twice in four trips to the plate against the Giants, but Pepper Martin's average continued to drop. The other four members of the Big Six were kept idle, the three American Leaguers being halted by rain, while the leader, Arky Vaughan, continued to nurse a charley horse.

ADVENTUROUS AS WELL AS A JOY and a crown is "Life" when grasped with the hands of sincerity and truth. Yet those who flippantly spend its most valuable asset (time) in pool rooms, dance halls, smoking cigarettes and satisfying the lusts of the flesh, find to their sorrow "Life" is an empty dream. It's the food you give the mind, plus the food you give your body, that determines the value of your foundation. Many do, and so may you, find our coarse whole wheat bread (free from molasses, sugar or white flour) does build and satisfy. Call daily—our foods are good. Golden Loaf Bakery, 711 Fort St.

Commons Advances Trade Board Bill

House Puts Measure Through Second Reading and Committee; Several Changes Suggested By Mr. King

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—In a swift passage from one measure to another the House of Commons to-day resumed consideration of amendments to the companies law after placing its approval yesterday on measures to establish a Dominion trade and industry commission, and create a fund to stabilize Canadian currency.

The trade and industry commission will be the Tariff Board, and as it was debated Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told the House regulations of business was the most difficult problem confronting public men. The problem was to prevent destructive effects of unrestrained and unrestricted competition and still protect the consumer from exploitation by monopolies, he said.

The proposed commission will have power to recommend approval of certain agreements as to price and production in particular industries, and their subsequent approval will carry with it exemption from prosecution under the Combines Investigation Act.

Unrestrained competition inevitably led to monopoly, said Mr. Bennett. He believed the agreements contemplated in the bill would provide a means of meeting th problem in part.

DOUBTS VOICED

Liberal members, however, were doubtful and expressed the view the Combines Investigation Act should not be relaxed in any particular. No formal opposition was offered, however, as the bill moved through second reading and the committee stage.

SAYS BOARD TOO BUSY

Liberal Leader Mackenzie King said the price spreads commission had urged the Combines Act be strengthened and administered by a separate board. The government bill would place the act in a subservient position—"sidetrack it altogether"—by placing it under a board already busy with tariff matters.

Administration of the Combines Act was a full-time job, Mr. King said. It required the attention of a man in full sympathy with it. The chairman of the Tariff Board—although, Mr. King said, he was sure this would not affect his judgment—had acted for interests under the act. The board already was busy for months ahead and, with its added duties, the Combines Act would be "played out of the picture."

It was believed by the government, Minister of Trade Hanson said, the Tariff Board was the logical commission to administer the act, rather than establish a new board. He believed Chairman Sedgewick would be an admirable administrator of the act. If the board did not have time to handle the Combines Act, the law could be changed next year.

"Let us try it for a year anyhow," Mr. Hanson suggested. He estimated $300,000 or $400,000 could be saved each year if a separate board was not appointed.

Premier Bennett said he had conferred with Chairman Sedgwick, who told him his board could handle the double duties.

QUESTION OF REPORTS

Mr. King said the act should be changed from reports going to the Prime Minister to another member of the Cabinet. Particularly to-day, the Prime Minister was overworked and he could not give detailed consideration he should to involved questions. The trend should be away from overloading the Prime Minister.

Mr. King said price and production agreements should require the approval of Parliament instead of the governor-in-council; but Mr. Hanson believed the delay involved would make this impractical.

E. J. Young, Liberal, Weyburn, Sask., objected to restrictions of competition, declaring it was sure to work to the disadvantage of the consumer.

SEES ALTERNATIVES

Premier Bennett replied to attacks from the Liberals against the clause which gives the Tariff Board power to sanction price and production agreements among individual manufacturers.

He described dominating, crushing monopolies or controlled, restricted industries as alternative courses in Canadian commerce.

He put his alternative plans in these words: "Shall we permit creation of a condition that will prevent growth of monopolies and creation of monopolies by adequate restrictions and regulation, or shall we permit unrestrained operation of free competition, to the destruction ultimately of all but the fittest—and I am using the word fittest in the sense of meaning the largest resources."

PURPOSE OF ACT

Mr. King took issue with Mr. Bennett on whether the Combines Investigation Act had led to mergers and monopolies. He claimed the act was designed not to prevent monopolies but to stop them from acting detrimentally to the public.

DRAMATIC END FOR INFORMER

Primitive Irishman Pays For Unforgivable Act in Dominion Film

Gypo Nolan, portrayed by Victor McLaglen in RKO-Radio's "The Informer," now at the Dominion, is a giant Irishman, primitive anad savage, who commits the unforgivable sin—informs on his pal.

It is Nolan's passionate love for Katie Madden, the principal woman figure in Liam O'Flaherty's story, that makes him forget duty, law, and racial traditions. It is to satisfy his desire for money so that he can buy her the things she craves that he betraps his friend who has a price on his head.

To Gypo Nolan's people his crime is utterly despicable, but Nolan's conscience is not like that of his people, for fundamentally he is a primitive man. Yet the human qualities that are stirred within him by the commission of his savage crime create a fierce struggle between good and evil in his soul, and initiate him into the terrors of remorse.

SOLOISTS IN REVUE CLEVER

Frank White, Ian Gibson, Phyllis Addison, Doreen Wilson, Wynne Shaw, Dulcie Hamlet, Len Waggstaff and Marjorie Schofield are some of the principals in the forthcoming Russian Ballet School production, "Moods and Melody, booked for the Royal Victoria Theatre, June 22, at 8.15 p.m.

With such a galaxy of principals from Victoria's art colony all doubt of the show's success vanishes. Frank White, the gay troubadour, will play his accordion in the carnival act, Ian Gibson will give an awe-inspiring "bat dance" in fantastic costume, and will be partnered with Rosemarie Farrow in several dance numbers.

The other artists mentioned are all well-known solo dancers of outstanding merit.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Dickens wrote it almost a century ago, but its characters still live and breathe.

It is a great picture because it is a picture every parent will be happy to have his children see and every child will be proud to have his parents see. "Great Expectations" will meet every audience's expectation.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Elsa Lanchester, who plays so amusingly the role of Anne of Cleves, fourth wife of England's Bluebeard of kings in "The Private Lives of Henry VIII," United Artists release showing at the Playhouse Theatre, is the wife of its star, Charles Laughton.

In order to make her likeness to the German duchess who was the unwilling bride of Henry, she had to wear a blonde wig, adopt a German accent and learn to make faces.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A stand-in is a person of approximately the same height as the star who stands in front of the camera while technicians arrange lights, focus cameras and do the innumerable things that are necessary before photographing a scene.

In Darryl Zanuck's Twentieth Century production of "Les Miserables," currently at the Capitol Theatre, it was necessary at one time to have three such men working on the set at the same time. This was required because March played two different characters in the scene, but not at the same time, however. The third chap was accounted for by the fact that one of the scenes called for the cameras to shoot the back of one of these characters while March in the other character faced the camera.

Selective Sales General As Wall Street Firms Late

Associated Press

New York, June 18.—The buying urge again appeared in to-day's stock market although the session was no runaway affair and a high degree of selectivity continued to dominate dealings. A late upturn in the rails helped to lift over sections of the list. The closing was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

The news was not considered bad, although pressure of idle funds was seen as the principal supporting factor for stocks, as a whole.

A rally in grains, due partly to excessive rains in the winter crop districts, was a helpful influence. Cotton was a little better than steady. Bonds edged a bit higher. Gold currencies, led by the French franc, were up in terms of the dollar as optimistic conclusions were drawn from the recent aid given the French currency by the United States treasury.

Shares gaining major fractions to a point or so included Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central, American Can, Johns-Manville, Briggs Manufacturing, Bayuk Cigar, J. C. Penney, Macy, Woolworth, Kelsey Wheel and Budd Wheel. Among the utilities American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey were moderately higher. Most of the oils, motors and steels were narrow.

MINES QUIET AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 18.—Buyers ricked up a few stocks here and there over the mining board to-day but action was very spotty.

There were no gains or declines of importance to record, the general tone holding firm. Noranda held unchanged while business in the golds centred mainly in Central Patricia, God's Lake, McWatters, Pickle Crow, Siscoe and Teck Hughes.

Big gold stocks came out in small volume. Lake Shore dropped $1 to $50.50 and Dome, McIntyre, Teck-Hughes and Bralorne held small gains. Wright Hargreaves sold off .25 to 8.15.

SAYS KIDNAP PIT IS FOUND

Head of G-men of U.S. Tells of Discoveries in Search For W. Mahan

Washington, June 18.—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, said to-day that William Mahan, sought as the "brains" of the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping, had planned an abduction a year ago and constructed an underground pit near Spirit Lake, Idaho, for his intended victim.

The head of the Justice Department's bureau of investigation said the identity of the intended victim was not known.

The pit, Hoover said, was found by citizens in June, 1934, and his men investigated at the time without results.

With the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley in connection with the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping, he said the year-old mystery was solved.

He also revealed that federal agents had located near Tacoma a similar pit where little George Weyerhaeuser was held immediately after his abduction on May 24.

LEAN-TO FOUND

He also announced discovery of a lean-to where George was released after payment of the $200,000 ransom.

Near the brush-covered pit where the Weyerhaeuser boy was first held agents found a hammer, spade, axe—apparently used to construct the trap—and a blanket.

Attached to the bottom board of the pit were two long chains used to fasten the victim.

Hoover said there was a "marked similarity" between these two pits, called the work of Mahan, and the desert pit where "six-year-old June Robles was held in April, 1934, near Tucson, Ariz.

He suggested, however, that "Mahan may have read about the Robles pit" and copied the idea.

Tacoma, Wash., June 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley may be en route to federal prisons to start life sentences Saturday, under federal authorities' plan to-day to "clean up" the George Weyerhaeuser kidnap case as quickly as possible.

BRITISH TRADE

London, June 18 (Associated Press)—Following are board of trade figures for the month of May: Total imports £64,530,000; exports of British products £35,200,000; re-exports £5,550,000; total exports £40,750,000; excess of imports £23,780,000.

SIX WOMEN IN PARACHUTE FEAT

Associated Press

Moscow, June 18.—Six women, aged twenty to twenty-three, basked in public acclaim to-day for their record mass parachute leap yesterday from an altitude of four and one-half miles without oxygen apparatus.

Each received her parachute and a prize of 1,500 rubles. (A paper ruble is worth about 2½ cents on the Moscow unofficial exchange.) The prize was the government's recognition of their feat.

The mass jump was prepared by the experimental institute of the people's commissariat of heavy industry, which is developing new types of parachutes, including one which is 190 feet in diameter and which, it is claimed, can land a load of six tons.

LONDON MARKET

London, June 18.—Trading was quieter on the stock exchange to-day and gilt-edged securities were strong due to investment buying. Far eastern bonds were firmer while West African mines held steady. Kaffirs, transatlantic shares and industrials yielded on profit taking. The market closed irregular.

Outside Interest Forces Prices Up At Winnipeg Mart

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 18.—Influenced by late appearance of Chicago buying, improved export demand for Canadian wheat and several other bullish developments, wheat prices surged upward late to-day on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange for net gains of 1⅞ to 2¼ cents.

The July future bounced ahead to close at 84¼ cents, with August at 84⅞. It was the most spirited display of strength the market has produced in several weeks.

Chicago traders were heavy buyers of Winnipeg futures and with offerings almost completely lacking values were quickly run up to top levels.

Strength in both wheat and corn in the Chicago pit was a market factor as well as rising figures in Minneapolis and Kansas exchanges.

Too much rain in the United States wheat belt was stressed by traders as a bullish influence, and added to this as an improved export inquiry for Canadian wheat. There was no figure placed on the day's sales.

Liverpool ended 1d to ⅛d higher and Buenos Aires also was firm.

Chicago, June 18 (Associated Press).—Increasing fear of the possible detrimental effect of excessive rains in parts of the winter wheat and corn belts has reflected in sharply higher futures prices here to-day.

Prospects of damage to wheat, of a wet harvest in some southwestern sections and of serious corn crop delays in important nearby producing areas had a bullish influence on the market.

Wheat closed 1⅛ to 1¾ cent higher, July 81⅞ to 81⅞, and corn was 1⅛ to 2⅛ up, July 81⅞ to 82. Oats gained ⅝ to ¾, rye 1 to 1⅜, and barley was unchanged.

BIGGEST LIQUOR ORDER IS PLACED

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 18.—Announcement of a $6,300,000 order with the Corby Distilleries, Belleville, Ont., "the biggest single order placed by any distillery firm in the world," has been made here by Henry C. Kaplan, president of the Olde Tyme Distilleries, New York. The order calls for 300,000 gallons of whisky.

MIXED TREND AT TORONTO

Toronto, June 18.—Canadian Industrial Alcohol A featured Toronto industrial share market to-day, turning over in heavy volume on the announcement the company had put through a new sale of liquor in United States running into millions of gallons. It advanced more than half a point to close above 9.

Oils were steday. Liquors, Walkers merely recovered a morning setback and Distillers Seagrams closed on the downside to the extent of a small fraction.

Some brewery shares came to life including Brewing Corporation Common and Canada Malting. Food stocks lost ground, losses showing at the close for Canada Vinegars, the Alberta Pacific Grain issues, Lake of the Woods and Canada Bread "A." In the utilities Bell Telephone weakened about a point and in the financial group lower prices were showing at the close for Bank of Canada.

Ford A closed about half a point higher, and C.P.R. got back to 11 for a gain of ¼. Nickel and smelters closed down.

Total of Baby Bonds $900,000

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18.—Total subscriptions neared the $900,000 mark to-day as Vancouver went into the sixth day of the campaign to raise $1,500,000 through sale of "baby bonds" to finance construction of a city hall and a public works programme.

The changes were approved by the Cabinet Saturday. If passed, the reformed constitution would go into effect immediately, parliament would be dissolved and new elections held within sixty days.

Chief proposals include creation of an Upper House in parliament, easing of anti-religious laws, provision for modern divorce legislation and restriction of the powers of the Cortes in budgetary action.

Ten Police Hurt In Paris Riot

Associated Press

Paris, June 18.—Ten policemen were injured to-day when 250 angry laborers demonstrated outside the Polish Embassy against France's wholesale expulsion of foreign workers.

Lille, France, June 18 (Associated Press) — Several hundred workers battled at the Polish consulate here to-day as a result of France's wholesale riddance of foreign workers to reduce unemployment.

The workers, mostly from Roubaix and Tourcoing, invaded the consulate, breaking down doors and shouting for their immediate repatriation.

RANCHES TELL OF WINTER LOSSES

Canadian Press

Bella Coola, B.C., June 18.—The severity of last winter has taken a heavy toll on the ranches of the Anahim Lake-Algatcho district, Constable N. S. Condon of the British Columbia Police and T. A. Lielton of the department of Indian Affairs, who have just returned from there, report.

Some ranchers had cured enough hay to carry their herds through the winter, but others lost as high as 90 per cent of their stock.

BONDS EASIER AT NEW YORK

Associated Press

New York, June 18.—Slightly easier tone crept into the corporate bond market during early trading to-day when the demand for junior railroad obligations showed signs of tapering off and leaders were inclined to rest.

Rains Benefit Prairie Grain

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—The rains of the last week in the prairie provinces have improved crop prospects, says a crop report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In west-central Saskatchewan and east-central Alberta dry areas have been relieved. Limited damage from drought continues, however, in southwestern Saskatchewan and southeastern Alberta.

STABILIZATION FUND IS VOTED

Commons Sends Exchange Bill to Senate; to Use Profit on Gold

Ottawa, June 18. — Canada is to have an exchange stabilization fund amounting to some $62,000,000, which will be derived from a utilization of the profits made on the value of gold reserves.

A bill passed yesterday by the Commons and sent to the Senate provides for revaluing these reserves at the present market value of gold, $35 an ounce. So far they have been carried in the books of the Bank of Canada at the old par value of $20.67 an ounce.

The bill is permissive in character, and the government may set up the stabilization fund when and if it considers it desirable.

CONTROL LED BY MINISTER

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre, welcomed the bill and thought it should have been passed earlier. He was pleased control of the fund would rest with the Minister of Finance, as he believed too much power had already been given the semi-privately owned Bank of Canada.

Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, made an unsuccessful attempt to secure an amendment to the bill to provide for revaluation of silver stocks held by the Bank of Canada.

Vancouver Session To-day Is Dullest In Several Weeks

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 18.—Closing in one of the slowest sessions in weeks, stocks were generally lower at the end of the morning session of the Vancouver Exchange to-day.

Turnover for the early period amounted to little more than 40,000 shares. Volume for the same session Monday was 62,000 shares.

One or two selected issues, however, managed to come out for small gains. Among these were Sheep Creek and Cariboo, Sheep Creek ending up two cents to 90, while the latter was up a cent to $1.17. A number of stocks did nothing more than hold unchanged under trading of one or two sales.

Most active issues were Big Missouri and Premier. Each came out for losses of two cents, Missouri to 70 and the latter trading at $1.60.

B.R.X. and Home Gold were off fractionally. B.C. Nickel, Bradian, Bralorne, Dentonia, Wayside, Mak Siccar, Reno and Grange were quiet and unchanged.

Oils continued dull, Ranchmen's and C. and E. bringing about the only sales, both were unchanged.

PROROGATION BEFORE JULY 1

Belief Grows Among Commons Members Session Will End Before June 30

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 18.—Progress made yesterday with legislation on the order paper gave rise to the belief among private members of the Commons to-day prorogation would come before the end of June. Two highly contentious measures remain to be disposed of, the bill appointing the grain board and that providing for the alternate vote in Saskatchewan.

Since the alternate vote would affect only one province, the Conservative members from other provinces are not so greatly concerned over its fate and they would not be disappointed if the government decided not to go ahead with it.

If the vote bill were dropped, the session would doubtless be materially shortened.

Most of the differences of opinion over the grain board will be aired in the committee, which began its study of the bill to-day. However, it will require perhaps one or two days in the House after the committee reports.

CLIPPER IS TO FLY FRIDAY

Associated Press

Honolulu, June 18.—Her motors still warm from the first flight of a commercial plane to lonely Midway Island out by the International Dateline, the Pan-American clipper was prepared to-day to return to her base at Alameda, Calif., Friday.

Greeted more like a slightly overdue ferryboat than a sky trail blazer, the clipper swooped down out of the afternoon sun at 4.28 p.m. (6.58 p.m. Pacific standard time) yesterday and came to rest on the waters of Pearl Harbor just ten hours and five minutes after leaving lonely Midway Island, 1,323 miles to the northwest. It was a test of "blind flying," the most extensive yet tried in this region.

"With the exception of a navy squadron several weeks ago, no other planes have ever made the trip between Midway and Honolulu.

"We will take off for Alameda Friday, weather permitting," said Capt. E. C. Musick and his crew of aerial commuters prepared the clipper for another 2,410-jaunt to California.

Quickly, after the unexplained explosion, the decks above the transport's engine rooms were sheets of flames. Strict discipline prevented panic as the crew launched rafts and lifeboats while—

Pat's father was buried against a windlass by the first terrific shock. Painfully picking himself up, failing to see his daughter, he fought his way through suffocating smoke, below decks, in a vain attempt to rescue her.

Meanwhile, the girl found herself trapped in her cabin, amidships. Sensing her danger, she saw escape being cut off. Twice beaten back, she gained the companionway's stairs when the second explosion half buried her under debris.

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man of twenty-one. I have been going with a girl for four years. She is now nineteen. I would like to get married, but my salary will not permit me to support a wife. In the community in which we live there are several people who have been trying to marry us off for the last year. Last week they gave two showers for us. They were both surprises to us. They also had a big write-up in the paper about the wedding which they stated would take place in the next few days. My girls wants to go through with this, but I am afraid she doesn't realize the financial condition I am in. But I hate to embarrass her, so please tell me what to do. Q. X. Z.

Answer: Evidently a lot of very meddlesome people are trying to rush you into a marriage for which you are not prepared, and I greatly fear that the girl is a party to the proceedings. For it seems impossible that anybody could have so little delicacy and sense of propriety as to give a bridal shower and put a wedding announcement in the newspaper without, at least, the tacit consent of the girl.

Some cynic said that we all bear with great fortitude our friends' misfortunes, and perhaps that is why so many people indulge in the dangerous pastime of matching-making. They know that some one else is going to have to stand for the misery if they inveigle or bulldoze two people into getting married who should never marry each other or who are in no financial condition to marry.

This is precisely your case. No matter how much you love the girl you know you could not make her happy if you married her because you could not support her. You know that you would both be miserable if you were torn with anxiety over your bills and if you were cold and hungry and half clothed. So you very wisely want to put off marriage until you can afford your bride something besides starvation.

But these other people should worry about your troubles! It is not their door outside which the wolf will be howling. It is not they who will, perhaps, agonize over a sick wife or a little child for whom they cannot get a doctor nor proper food nor medicines. That is your tough luck, and so they heartlessly try to put you into a jam that they think will leave you no choice but marriage.

Why any girl insists on marrying a man who cannot support her, Heaven only knows. But they do. Maybe they think that some miracle is going to happen that will cause a man to fall into a big job on his wedding day. Maybe they believe that the ravens will feed them or that after marriage a girl ceases to eat. Nobody can tell. It is just a fact that girls urge marriage men when they know they are not ready for it. And then they howl and whine and cry because of the privations they have to endure.

My earnest advice to you is to tell these officious friends of yours just exactly where they get off, and to put as much pep into your statement as you can. And then stiffen your spine and refuse to let them force you into marriage until you are good and ready.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—The other day I told my dearly beloved adopted son, who is seventeen, of his adoption when an infant. My rehearsal of most of the facts that I felt he could bear to hear were made with the greatest consideration and love. He listened quietly, then with a flush on his beautiful face he asked: "Why did you tell me this? I am very sorry. I have been a very happy boy as your son."

If it were possible for me to take back my information to him, I would give everything I have on earth, for I have given a splendid boy a terrible jolt, an inferiority complex, a loss in pride of birth and family background. I have cheated him and myself. I cannot speak of my own parents with pride because my boy drops his head and tears come into his eyes. I cannot sleep nights, and pray that in some miraculous way he will forget what I have told him and that we will be placed on the same footing again, and that he will feel that in very truth he is our own son. My boy suffers and I feel as if I were a murderer of his self-respect, his love of family and hope for the future. What can you offer me? A TRUE MOTHER.

Answer: I can only offer you the assurance that you have done the right thing, because it is not humanly possible that your boy could have gone through life ignorant of the fact that he is an adopted child. Somebody—relatives, friends, acquaintances, neighbors, possibly even an enemy — would be bound to tell him some time, and the later he found it out, the more disastrous would be the result to him.

You cannot possibly keep a thing like that a secret. Like murder, it will always out. And why should you keep it a secret? Why should you lie and deceive and make a mystery of the fact that he is an adopted child, that he belongs to you by love and tenderness instead of birth? Certainly the most morbid imagination can find nothing disgraceful in such a relationship Nothing except what is fine and generous and a credit to you.

Your mistake has been in not telling the boy that he was an adopted child while he was still so young that the knowledge would have no meaning to him. He should have been familiarized with the fact while he was still a mere babe, and taught that your love had a peculiar tenderness in it for him because you wanted him so much that you had picked him out from all other children for your own.

I realize that it is not easy to tell a little child that he is not yours except through love, nor to answer its questions about where is its own mother, and why did she give him away, but it has to be done and the longer you put it off the more disastrous are the consequences of your revelation.

I have many letters from boys and girls who tell me that they have found out through some accident, when they were almost grown, that they were adopted children, and the knowledge seems to produce in them a shock that profoundly unsettles them. You must have read recently in the papers of the case of a man of forty-five, very successful and highly honored, who killed himself upon learning that the father and mother he adored were his adopted parents.

Perhaps the reason for this is that children who love their parents look up to them almost as if they were God, and they cannot bear to find out that they have been deceived and befooled, and that the father and mother they believed in to have lied to them.

You have my earnest sympathy in your dilemma, but, believe me, you have done the only honest thing, and if you have hurt your boy now you have saved him from a worse hurt that was bound to come to him. Teach him that the matter of birth does not matter. That you have taken out of it whatever sting was in it. That you have thrown over him the mantle of your own name and family, and that what counts is for him to make a place in the world for himself. Ambition is the salve for his hurts.

Who was it who said: "I am my own ancestor"? But every mother who has an adopted child is laying up sorrow for herself and the child by not telling it the truth while it is so young that the revelation will not shock it.

HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1935

Benefic aspects dominate in the horoscope for to-day, according to astrology, but adverse aspects are active. This is a day to be cautious and wary of deception.

It is a fortunate day for signing contracts and should bring profit to all concerned. Extensive engineering projects will be pushed with rare accomplishment foreshadowed.

Women should find this an auspicious sway under which to advance their best interests. Under this rule those who have artistic talents should benefit especially.

It is a lucky wedding day—a time when the stars smile upon love and seem to promise much happiness through many years.

The evening is read as propitious for formal entertainments at which persons of distinction are guests. The summer will bring many foreign visitors on important missions to the United States.

Machinery will remain the menacing factor in the unemployment problem for new inventions may outstrip efforts to adjust jobs for men. On government projects amazing improvements in the mechanical processes will eliminate hundreds of hands, it is prophesied.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune, although there may be certain ups and downs that entail changes in plans.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly intellectual and original. Subjects of this sign usually have real personality.

John Henry Barr, mechanical engineer, was born on this day, 1861. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Hermann Eduard von Holst, historian, 1841, and William Harrison Faulkner, college professor, 1874.

Miss Helene Allmenbinger of Palisade, Washington, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Foster, Wellington Road.

Tanker Strike On Coast Is Ended

Question in Dispute Being Settled By Arbitration, With Union Seamen Returning to Their Jobs, San Francisco Advices State

Associated Press

San Francisco, June 18.—The four-months-old U.S. Pacific coast tanker strike, which for a time threatened to cause a second general coastwise marine strike, was ended to-day, with union seamen applying for their old jobs "in the usual way."

Announcement of the end of the strike was made by F. M. Kelley, secretary of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, after George Larsen, secretary of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, admitted the seamen were applying for re-employment.

Officials of the tank ship operators said the strikers were applying for work "in the usual way."

Both union officers and company executives were reluctant to comment on the development which brought to a close the controversy which several times reached bitter deadlocks. The oil companies previously had said their ships were operating and refused to submit to arbitration, declaring there were no issues to consider.

Starting on March 9, the strike centred around a demand for preferential employment, as well as wage increases, but later the unions' chief demand was the return of the strikers to their former positions. Within the last few weeks the unions agreed to submit all questions to arbitration.

LOUISE TO BRING EXCURSION HERE

Returning from Alaska, Ss. Princess Louise, of the Canadian Pacific fleet, is to-day berthed alongside the Belleville Street docks.

Answering union strike call, eleven of the deck crew of the Princess Louise walked ashore at Vancouver. All the boats of the C.P.R. fleet are operating as usual, it was announced at the B.C. Coast Service offices today.

The Princess Louise will bring an excursion here from Vancouver on Thursday, and will take her scheduled sailing to Alaska at the end of the week.

Furness Line Motorship Puts Off Passengers and Bananas Here

After discharging United Kingdom freight at the Ogden Point docks, the Furness Line Ms. Pacific Ranger left about 2 o'clock this afternoon for Vancouver. The ship reached here via Seattle at 10.45 o'clock last night from England via the Panama Canal.

Passengers coming ashore here from the Pacific Ranger included H. M. Archibald of The Uplands, returning from a visit to England, and John K. Wardell, who, during his visit to Victoria, will visit his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wardell, 542 St. Patrick Street. Mr. Wardell served with the Northwest Mounted Police during the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, when he was stationed at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan.

Associated Press

Wichita, Kas., June 18.—The famous flying combination of Wiley Post and the monoplane Winnie Mae has reached the parting point.

"When I get the thing back to Bartlesville, I'm through with it," Post commented, more in sorrow than in anger after he had set the Winnie Mae down on her fuselage here late Saturday.

Forgotten Key Delays Steamer

Tourist, Anxious to Restore Hotel Property, Holds Up Charlotte at Vancouver

Vancouver, June 18.—Capt. W. Q. Palmer, master of the Canadian Pacific's Alaska-bound Princess Charlotte, was just taking his ship away from Pier D at 9 o'clock Saturday night when there occurred one of those incidents which cause strong men to mutter in their beards and take years from the lives of dockside officials.

Orchestra playing, gay passengers waving to friends on the dock and engineroom telegraphs clanging, the Charlotte was backing out into the stream for Skagway when a hail from the ship suddenly caused her to stand by.

Tossing a metal object through the air to a friend on the dock he remarked nonchalantly, "I forgot to turn in my key at the hotel. Be a good lad and take it back for me, will you?"

SWEDEN BUYS WAR PLANES

Order Placed With British Builders For Fleet of Modern Bombers

London, June 18.—Conclusion of an important contract with the Swedish government for the supply of military airplanes and the building of other aircraft under license in Sweden was disclosed by Handley Page at the annual meeting of his company held here recently.

The order concerns the supply of bombing planes of the Heyford type, which is the latest heavy bomber to go into service with the Royal Air Force.

This machine, which is styled the "express" bomber because of the many devices employed in its structure to shorten time required for refueling, rearming and engine adjustments, is a biplane with the top decking of the fuselage on a level with the upper wings. This arrangement gives excellent outlook and field of fire in all essential directions, and preserves the handiness and rapidity of manoeuvre which is one point of performance wherein the biplane is superior to the monoplane. Power is derived from two fully supercharged Rolls-Royce Kestrel engines. Normal operational heights of the machine lie between 10,000 to 20,000 feet above sea level.

WORK OF BIPLANES

Mr. Page quoted striking figures of the work dane by the H.P. 42 biplanes in the fleet of Imperial Airways. These machines are employed on the cross-channel services, between Egypt and India, and between Egypt and East Africa. They rank among the largest airliners yet commissioned anywhere in the world, with accommodation for up to thirty-eight passengers and a crew of four. In comfort and economy of operation they are unsurpassed. Mr. Page stated that from the date when the first H.P. 42 was placed in service in 1931 till the end of April this year, the eight machines with Imperial Airways had flown no less than 35,831 hours, an average of 4,500 hours per machine. They had carried in the aggregate approximately 132,000 passengers and had flown about 3,500,000 miles. On completion of 5,000 hours of service each of these aeroplanes is thoroughly examined. The closest scrutiny has failed to discover any serious defect. The aircraft, declared Mr. Page, were in practically as good a condition as when delivered, "a striking tribute to the quality of their design and workmanship."

He spoke of the importance of wing-slot and slotted flap devices in assuring high speed with safety. "One of the necessities in reaching higher speeds," he said, "is the use of means for increasing wing lift and reducing wing area to lessen resistance at high speed. In this development our company has been a world pioneer in the initiation, development and perfecting of slots and slotted flaps for increasing lift and controllability of aircraft at slow speeds.

"Slots and the devices associated with slots represent to-day the only practical means of correlating speed with safety. Our patents covering the slot have been taken up the whole world over, and it is interesting to note that one of the most important of the patents in this group has still a long period to run in that the automatic slot patent, taken out in 1927, does not expire till 1943."

Ship Subsidies Are Denounced

U.S. Senate Ocean Mail Committee Demands More Drastic Terms

Associated Press

Washington, June 18.—Charging that ship subsidies led to a "saturnalia" by men bent on "robbing the taxpayers," the Senate ocean mail committee to-day denounced past operation of the merchant marine subsidies and demanded drastic terms for any future government aid.

It also charged that some public officials "flagrantly betrayed their trust" and said "government officials made a farce" of the competitive bidding provision of the Jones-White Merchant Marine Act of 1928. It said "the standards for computing compensation" under this act are "unworkable and productive of fraud."

Frankly advocating government ownership and operation of merchant marine, the committee nevertheless conceded that bitter opposition would prevent this and so it recommended an alternative plan of "government ownership and private operation, the operation to be subsidized where this is proved necessary."

The committee consists of five members, of whom only two signed the report without reservation. They were Senators Black (D-Ala), chairman, and McCarran (D-Nev).

Senator King (D-Utah) signed it with reservation that he disagreed with any form of subsidy. He proposed tariff adjustments and other legislation to build up a merchant marine.

Senator White (R-Me), whose ship subsidy measure was attacked in the report, and Senator Austin (R-Vt.), not only declined to sign, but indicated they would submit a minority statement.

After declaring subsidy had been "piled on subsidy" in grants of "mail pay" and construction work in the last ten years, the committee, which also investigated air mail contracts, said:

"Private ownership and operation of merchant and aerial transportation with government subsidy has resulted in a saturnalia of waste, inefficiency, unearned exorbitant salaries and bonuses and other forms of "compensation," corrupting expense accounts, exploitation of the public by the sale and manipulation of stock, the values of which are largely based on the hope of profit from robbing the taxpayer."

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are advised that the unwatched acetylene gas light on Cape Scott, northwest point of Vancouver Island, B.C., is reported not burning.
